French Evacuate Key City

Red Drive Threatens To Split Indochina

SAIGON, Indochina — The vanguard of Communist-led Vietminh forces moved today into the abandoned town of Thakhek, on the Mekong River border with Thailand, completing a rebel drive to cut Indochina in two.

First reports from the area said the Vietminh units that drove boldly across the country from the coastal areas of Annam sent light elements into Thakhek, previously evacuated by the French.

The withdrawal of the French had been announced earlier today in a communique from the high command. It said the evacuation was ordered to pull as many troops as possible together in order to meet the Vietminh attack.

Vietminh occupation of the town, 240 miles south of Hanoi, would give the rebels a base from which to strike either north or south along the Mekong River. The Vietminh began their lightning thrust across the country four days ago.

The invasion of Laos from Annam followed repeated offers from Vietminh Chief Ho Chi Minh for a negotiated peace in the seven-year-old Indochina war. The French

Pravda Declares Support Of Reds In Guatemala

Government Under Attack By U. S. As Communist-Ruled

NEW YORK (AP)—Moscow's Communist newspaper Pravda has declared its full support of the government of Guatemala—under attack by American officials as Communist-dominated.

Referring to "progressive measures of the Guatemalan government," copies of Pravda reaching here warned that the Central American country is "not alone" in its "struggle for independence" against "American imperialism."

In Pravda's parlance the adjective "progressive" is almost always used only to describe Communist governments or political parties.

"Playing Communist Game"

John Moors Cabot, U. S. assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said last October that Guatemala was "openly playing the Communist game." A few days later, Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) told newsmen that "Communism has established a strong beachhead in Guatemala."

Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz has denied charges that his government is Communist or encourages communism. Foreign observers there generally concede that Arbenz, a leftist, and most of his government are not Communists but they insist that the Reds play a dominant role in the country.

Six Injured Christmas Day On Area Roads

Six persons were injured in two district road mishaps investigated by Salem State Highway Patrolmen on Christmas Day.

Patrolmen today are seeking Roosevelt Anders of Akron who deserted the scene after his car sideswiped an auto on Route 30, five miles north of East Liverpool, at 10:10 a.m.

Injured in the accident were: Dan Copeland, 35, of Akron, a passenger in Anders' auto, bruises of the legs and head.

James Jenkins, 40, of Warren, driver of the other car, injury to the right ankle.

Evelyn Jenkins, 35, of Warren, lacerations and bruises of the right leg.

Thelma Jenkins, 17, of Warren, lacerations of the right leg.

The latter two were passengers in the Jenkins auto. The injured were treated at East Liverpool City Hospital.

Patrolmen said the Anders car, traveling north, crossed the center line and struck the oncoming Jenkins auto. When Anders is apprehended, patrolmen said, he will be cited with reckless operation and leaving the scene of an accident.

Cars driven by Merle Burt, 35, of RD 2, Columbiana and Earl Cope, 56, of RD 2, Columbiana, collided at 1:15 p.m. at the intersection of Route 7 and a county road, three miles south of the intersection of Routes 7 and 14.

Cope sustained lacerations of the forehead and a passenger in his car, Jacqueline Cope, 11, of RD 2, Columbiana received a fracture of the right ankle and abrasions of the face.

The injured were treated at Salem City Hospital. Cope was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Lisbon Kiwanis Club To Install Officers

LISBON — 1954 officers elected last August will be installed at the Jan. 7 meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Knights of Pythias hall.

Seated will be Deane Beck, president; Frank Henry, vice president and G. C. Rauch, secretary-treasurer. Outgoing president is Vincent Judge.

Train Wrecks Kill 362 In World Over Holiday

By The Associated Press

Four countries around the world counted a death toll of possibly 362 persons today as a result of Christmas Eve train wrecks.

Two of the rail disasters—in New Zealand and Czechoslovakia—were among the worst in history. The other accidents were reported from Peru and Pakistan.

In New Zealand, an estimated 166 lives were lost when a speeding Wellington-Auckland passenger train plunged into a river gorge Thursday night, after a bridge had washed out 250 miles south of the capital. The catastrophe cast gloom over the little country at the time it was entertaining Queen Elizabeth on her commonwealth tour.

The Bratislava-Prague express in Czechoslovakia smashed into another passenger train near Sakvice, killing from 100 to 186 persons according to unofficial piecemeal reports from the Iron Curtain country. The wreck, also on Christmas Eve, may have been the third worst train crash in history.

A heavily loaded ore train jumped the tracks on an Andes Mountain grade 12 miles from Lima, Peru, and six crewmen were killed. The seventh man aboard the train was seriously injured.

Another freight train derailment in Pakistan took the lives of four crewmen. This accident occurred yesterday about 30 miles from Quetta in the western part of the country.

In Auckland, Queen Elizabeth, broadcasting her annual Yuletide message to nations of the commonwealth around the world, paused to express her sympathy to the families of the New Zealand wreck victims. The young monarch's voice wavered as she spoke of the grave disaster.

New Zealand Prime Minister Sydney Holland rushed to the scene of the accident on Mt. Ruapehu as soon as he was notified yesterday. Internal Affairs Minister W. A. Bodkin was appointed minister in attendance to the Queen, and it was announced that the schedule of her royal tour would not be altered.

The engine and five cars of the train, which was traveling about 50 miles an hour, shot into the swollen Wangaehu River shortly after floods had swept away a section of the railway bridge. Another car tumbled on the brink a few moments and then toppled into the flood.

Howard S. Foust, State Farm Director, Fair Manager, Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gray-haired, bespectacled Howard S. Foust, 78, a magic name on Broadway and a powerful personality throughout the theatrical world, died yesterday after a brief illness.

Shubert, president of the Shubert Theatrical Enterprises, entered Mr. Sinai Hospital just four days ago for treatment of a circulatory disturbance.

The hospital attributed his death to "the complete failure of the circulatory system."

Lee was one of three brothers—Sam S., who died in 1905, and Jacob J., who survives—who parlayed an obscure booking business into a theatrical empire once estimated to be worth 400 million dollars.

The three brothers made the theatrical world their life, even as young men in Syracuse, N.Y.

When they invaded the Broadway scene they were confronted by the all-powerful Klaw and Erlanger booking agency, known as "The Combination."

Throwing their energy and astuteness into a fight for survival, the Shubert brothers eventually smashed the combine and themselves became the top theatrical power in the business.

The Shubert brothers added to the theatrical lustre of Broadway by building many of their own theaters. Shortly before World War II the two surviving Shuberts, Lee and J. J., leased or managed half or more than 40 legitimate theaters on the "Great White Way." They also controlled 15 show-places in other cities.

Old Log House Burns South Of Columbiana

COLUMBIANA — An abandoned log house on the former Ira Marlatt farm five miles south of town on Fairfield School Rd. was destroyed by fire early Friday evening.

The Columbiana Fire Department was called at 5:35 but the pump could not reach the scene about a mile from the road.

The house was not habitable and was falling to ruin. How the fire started is not known. The property has been in the hands of heirs of Oliver Marlatt, a brother of Ira, the original owner.

237 Are Killed In U. S. Holiday Traffic Mishaps

Nation Appears On Way To New Fatality Record For Period

By The Associated Press

The nation's traffic death toll appeared headed for a new Christmas holiday record today.

With less than half the long weekend holiday over, 237 persons have been killed in traffic accidents. That is more than in the comparative period during last year's record toll of 556 in the four day Christmas holiday. Last year's total for the first 33 hours was 225.

The nation's violent accidents since 6 p.m. Thursday have taken the lives of 285 persons. In addition to the 237 traffic fatalities, 23 persons perished in fires and 25 others were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

510 Dead Was Estimate

The National Safety Council had estimated 510 persons would be killed in traffic accidents alone during the 78-hour period ending at midnight Sunday.

But Ned H. Dearborn, council president, noting the rising toll during the first 24 hours of the holiday, said:

"Unless motorists put on the brakes, it's going to be the most tragic Christmas in history for traffic accidents."

Fairly pleasant winter weather prevailed over most of the country yesterday and millions of motorists headed for the highways. icy

Two Meetings Of Dairymen Planned Here

The annual Columbiana-Mahoning Dairy Institute will be held in the Masonic Temple on Tuesday, Jan. 12 beginning at 10 a. m.

Speakers will include Dr. Orville Bentley of the Ohio Experiment Station on "Nutrition"; C. D. McGrew of Ohio State University on "Trends in Dairy Cattle Feeding"; George Jackson, a dairyman from Mt. Gilead, on his pasture and roughage program; Everett C. Hale, another dairyman from Burton, on trends and problems of marketing milk.

The annual meeting of the Columbiana - Mahoning Dairy Herd Improvement Association will be held in the American Legion Hall on Tuesday, Jan. 5 at 1:30 p.m.

Besides the election of directors, Roger Morrison, dairy specialist from Ohio State University, will speak on "Problems in Reproduction."

Mr. Morrison is recognized as an authority on this subject. Dairymen in this area, whether or not members of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, are invited to attend.

Guernsey Breeders of Columbiana and Mahoning Counties will meet at Heck's Restaurant at Columbiana for an all-day meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 6. An interesting program has been planned.

"What is the Outlook for Agriculture and Business in General for the Year Ahead," this is the topic to be discussed at a general meeting open to all rural people and others to be held in the St. George Parish Hall at Lisbon on Thursday, Jan. 7 at 1:30 p.m. Riley Dugan of Ohio State University will be one of the speakers.

Firemen were called to the residence at 136 N. Madison Ave. at 8:18 a.m. yesterday on a fire scare.

5 Area Schools Adopt Health Program, Employ Two Nurses

A cooperative agreement has been reached by five northeastern Columbiana County schools to solve a nursing problem which arose when the county health department's school health program became defunct due to lack of funds and personnel.

Mrs. Ruth Gloss of Columbiana and Miss Sybil Degnan of Leetonia RD, both health department nurses resigning Dec. 31, will begin their tour of duty with Fairfield, Leetonia, Columbiana, New Waterford and Unity schools Jan. 1, according to T. V. Utterback, superintendent of Fairfield schools.

They will begin actual work Jan. 4, when the pupils return from the holiday vacation.

The salary schedule agreed upon by the five school boards and two nurses is $2600 yearly, plus $40 a month for traveling expenses, Utterback stated.

Although Miss Degnan has been hired to work at Fairfield and Leetonia schools and Mrs. Gloss at the other three schools, in the event of an emergency or epidemic they will work together.

Miss Degnan will be available at Leetonia on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, at Fairfield on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Mrs. Gloss' schedule is: Columbiana, Monday and Wednesday mornings, Thursday afternoons and Fridays; New Waterford, Tuesdays, Wednesday afternoons and Thursday mornings; and Unity, on Monday afternoon.

Utterback said a Red Cross course for people who want to become instructors in first aid is tentatively set for the week of Jan. 4 at Fairfield School. He describes it as another step to promote more health education in the schools.

In late January a meeting of Mrs. Gloss, Miss Degnan and the five school heads is tentatively planned to smooth out wrinkles which may develop in the school health program.

The school superintendents were commissioned by their respective Boards of Education to work out the new health unit. Superintendents attending the meetings included D. D. Rummel of Leetonia, T. V. Utterback of Fairfield, who has been named president of the

The mishap occurred on W. State St., at its intersection with Pine Ave.

Cars operated by Mathias J. Kuffelner of RD 2, Salem, Eugene Buonocore of Monessen, Pa. and James B. Painter of Leetonia figured in a chain collision mishap at 4:52 p.m. Thursday on N. Lincoln Ave. near 2nd St.

Police reported the southbound Kuffelner car struck the rear of the Buonocore vehicle, which in turn struck the rear of the Painter auto.

Cars driven by H. W. Linder of 675 Woodland Ave. and Eugene N. Case of Beloit collided at the intersection of E. State St. and Ohio Ave. at 8:25 a.m. Thursday, causing some damage to each vehicle.

Highway Council Gives Project 'Urgent' Priority

New Bridge Included In $250,000 Work To Be Done Next Year

The relocation and widening of the Route 14 Millville Hill just east of Salem is included in the State Highway Department's 1954 construction program, approval of which was announced today by the new State Highway Construction Council.

The Millville Hill project has been given an urgent or "A" priority rating so that it can be let for contract during the new year.

The job will include the construction of a new bridge to replace the present narrow concrete structure at the bottom of the hill.

Dean Sever, divisional engineer at the highway department's New Philadelphia office, told The News this morning that the Millville Hill project would cost around $250,000.

He said the new bridge would be built to fit into the present situation and also to fit into the pattern of traffic should a new bypass road be constructed here in the future.

All curves will be banked and the roadway widened from 20 to 24 feet.

State Highway department surveying crews have been working on plans for the Millville improvement during the past year, after the United Commercial Travelers' Salem Council spearheaded a drive for elimination of the steep, winding road which has been the scene of many fatal traffic accidents.

Improvement of Route 30 with new truck lanes and resurfacing near Wintersville also is included in today's list of newly-approved projects.

Other Approved Projects

Other "A" priority projects for 1954 include:

Trumbull County, Ohio 5, north of Ohio 7, bridge 318 and approaches for 36 miles.

Portage County, Ohio 14, new and salvage two-lane pavement, 5.13 miles southeast from Ohio 43 and 3.88 miles southeast from Ravenna, Ravenna by-pass, two-lane pavement and railroad grade separation structure.

Mahoning County, Ohio 18, 3.40 miles east from Lake Milton to widen and resurface; 1.83 miles east of Ohio 45, widen to four-lane divided and 4.05 miles, Erie Railroad crossing to Youngstown west of city limits. Widen to four-lane divided pavement.

Mahoning County, Ohio 7, widen to four-lane divided pavement north of U.S. 224 for 3.86 miles.

Trumbull, Ohio 5, four-lane divided pavement from Ohio 82 to Leavittsburg for 1.8 miles.

Portage, Ohio 14, widen and resurface 7.28 miles from Ohio 18 to U.S. 224.

Summit, Ohio 5 and Ohio 18, six-lane divided pavement for 1.10 miles on Akron Expressway from Ohio 5 to Chittenden avenue including South street interchange.

Belmont, Ohio 7, new four-lane divided pavement on relocation and relocate railroads for 2.5 miles near north corporation line of Beloit.

The approval paves the way for spending 60 million dollars from the highway construction and bond retirement fund. Some 30 million dollars will be provided in match-

Honor Students At Holiday Time

Recognition Day Services On Sunday

Church services, designed especially for students home from colleges and schools for the holidays, are planned for Sunday in several local churches.

The Methodist congregation is participating in Student Recognition Day and college students will take part in the morning service at 10:55.

Miss Nancy Bailey, student at Baldwin Wallace Conservatory of Music, will play a violin solo, "Jesu Bambino." The pastor, Rev. C. Clare Davis, will preach on "Defeat and Victory."

Student Recognition Sunday is being observed at the worship service at 10:30 in the First Christian Church. Rev. E. S. Scott, pastor, will present a message on the theme, "A Forgotten Ability," and the junior and senior choirs will sing.

In the First Presbyterian Church starting Sunday at 7 p.m. the students and servicemen and women will be guests at a reception in Fellowship Hall. At 8 p.m. the parents are invited to join the young people in a communion service.

An invitation has been extended to all young people and adults to attend the Sunday School Christmas service Sunday at 10:15 a.m. in the Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

Presbyterian

The sermon theme for Sunday at 10:45 a.m. in the First Presbyterian Church will deal with the subject, "When the Glory Fades." The Haviland Choir will sing. A solo will be sung by Everett Crawford, baritone, who is home from Ohio State University.

Sunday evening at 7 p.m., students, servicemen and women will be guests of the church at a reception, and a communion observance will follow at 8 p.m.

All members of the congregation are invited to the watch night service Thursday at 11:15 p.m.

The Faith and Life Commission of Westminster Fellowship is planning a New Year's Day service for all youth of the church Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Westminster Fellowship Council will meet Monday, Jan. 4, at noon.

Church Of Nazarene

Sunday School will convene at 9:45 a.m. in the Church of the Nazarene. Glenn Thorne is superintendent.

"After Christmas What?" will be the sermon topic at 11 a.m. by the pastor, Rev. E. M. Parks.

Sunday at 6:30 p.m. the Young People will meet for prayer and at 6:45 p.m. the regular service will start under the direction of Raymond Kelly, president.

The pastor will conduct the gospel hour Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The evangelistic service will include singing.

Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. the congregation will meet for a prayer and praise service.

Rev. C. D. Taylor, district superintendent, will speak at the morning service Sunday, Jan. 3. The service of recall of Rev. Parks to the pastorate of the church will be conducted by Rev. Taylor.

First Christian

This Sunday in the First Christian Church is Student Recognition Sunday for college students home for the holidays.

Sunday School will convene at 9:30 a.m. under the direction of Fred Schramm, superintendent.

"A Forgotten Ability" will be the sermon topic of Rev. E. S. Scott. The Junior and Senior Choirs will sing, directed by Mrs. Ellwood Hammell Jr.

The Christian Youth Fellowship will meet Sunday at 6 p.m.

Serving communion Sunday will be Fred Schramm, Howard Minner, Kenneth Schorrenberg, John Stewart Jr., Emerson Green, Glenn Gleckler, Lee Shafer and Lee Christen.

On the welcome committee will be Kenneth Schorrenberg, John Stewart Jr., Emerson Greene and Miss Alice Stallsmith.

Among those who assisted in decorating the church for Christmas were members of the Young Adult Class and Miss Doris Miller, Mrs. Ed Miller, Nancy Schramm and James Garlock.

Christian Science

"Christian Science" will be the topic of study at the Sunday morning service of the Christian Science Society.

The golden text is found in Isaiah 52:9 and 10 — "Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: For the Lord hath comforted His people, He hath redeemed Jerusalem, The Lord hath made bare His holy arm in the eyes of all the nations."

Emmanuel Lutheran

The congregation of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church will view the Sunday School Christmas program Sunday at 10:15 a.m. Carols will be sung by the school children and children will be featured in the service.

Members of the Senior Confirmation Class will meet Tuesday,

Glorious Things Of Thee Are Spoken

The favorite hymn of a military genius

The general was just 37 years old but his men called him "Old Jack." He was 6 feet tall and of regular build. His boots were never polished and he wore an old slouch hat and a faded uniform with half the buttons gone.

On the battlefield he would have asked no quarter of the devil himself. But when he tried to lead a prayer in church he got so scared his knees buckled and he had to sit down. But he was forever praying. He prayed so much that his men said, "When Old Jack aint a-fightin' he's a-prayin'."

And when he wasn't fighting and praying he was singing hymns. Even in battle, with bullets whizzing around him, he wouldn't drink water from his canteen without first offering up a prayer of thanks. He wouldn't read or write a letter on Sunday. At the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, where he taught natural science and military tactics, he held prayer meetings in his classrooms. He organized a Negro Baptist Sunday School and paid the bills for his upkeep.

The general's religion bordered fanaticism. He never took credit for any of his victories. He just reported, "God blessed our arms with victory." And his victories were so many that historians say the war changed its course when he was killed at Chancellorsville. He was shot in the night by mistake by his own men.

They made fun of him. They named four of his cannons "Matthew," "Mark," "Luke" and "John" because, they said, they spoke the gospel. But they would have charged the gates of hell to the last man if Old Jack had given the order.

The general couldn't sing very well. The simplest tunes gave him trouble. But there was one hymn he could sing better than the rest. It was his favorite. It was written back in 1779 by English Preacher John Newton, the converted slave-trade captain who wrote "Amazing Grace, how sweet the sound, that saved a wretch like me" and 287 other hymns for his congregations.

The general marched his Army of the Shenandoah 32 miles that day in 1862. When night came they bivouacked in the valley and each man fell in his tracks with dread that he might be awakened for cold detail.

When the cold gray of dawn broke the men awoke one by one to a strange sound on the hill. There sat the general with his old slouch hat in his hands. Stonewall Jackson was singing as best he could, his favorite hymn.

Who can faint, while such a river
Ever flows their thirst to assuage?
Grace which, like the Lord, the Giver,
Never fails from age to age.

Round each habitation hovering,
See the cloud and fire appear
For a glory and a covering,
Showing that the Lord is near!

Glorious things of thee are spoken,
Zion, city of our God;
He whose word cannot be broken,
Formed thee for His own abode.

Jan. 5 and the Junior Class Wednesday, Jan. 6.

The annual meeting of the congregation will be held Wednesday, Jan. 13. Reports will be given and officers elected.

A Formula For Exciting Living

"There'll be a hot time in the old town next Thursday night," I heard a passerby say. I expect there'll be a big time in most towns, because it will be New Year's Eve and many people throughout the world will be turning to noise, to confetti and to the artificial stimulation of alcohol to find excitement for that one night.

There is a way of life, however, that needs no horns, no confetti, no liquor, to provide excitement all year round. An old friend of mine

Blanket Coverage

By LAURA HOBSON

I have never lost 1700 blankets but my heart certainly went out to the Sampson Air Force Base in upper New York state when it had.

Though the 1700 would have cost you or me about $15,000, the lucky Air Force can get things whole-sale, so the price to them was a mere $8,000.

Nevertheless losing 1700 blankets is a chilling experience for anybody and when the Finger Lakes Laundries and Dry Cleaners, Inc. didn't return the blankets with the week's wash, a board of inquiry was appointed to investigate.

"The apparent loss," said the Finger Lakes Co., "can, we believe, be blamed on faulty inventories, and we have referred the claim to our insurance carrier."

WHICH IS WHERE, at last report, the matter rests.

"As a housewife, I predict that that's where it will rest for a good long time, and I'll bet that about 9,000,000 other housewives would predict it with me.

For one of the mysteries of life common to all women who send all or part of the weekly wash is the discrepancy between what's marked down on the laundry list on Monday and what's checked off as returned the following Monday.

Among the missing, usually, is nothing as valuable as a blanket, but even if it's just a face cloth from your set of a dozen, it does irk you when it doesn't come back.

And it doesn't help to have the laundry tell you firmly that it was properly checked out and that you must be mistaken.

I'VE NEVER yet invented a way to guarantee that these little laundry losses won't happen. To check through each item before your surrender the wash on Mondays is impractical, and you can't hold his lapels at the end of the week while you make him watch you check back each item he delivers.

And so, the disappearing act continues, and you'd feel too small to ask your own "insurance carrier" to repay you for a lost handkerchief or kitchen towel or pair of old blue jeans.

Only once did I ever report a laundry loss, and strangely enough that was about blankets too. Not 1700, but 4, which seemed like a lot to me, being all the heavy winter blankets I owned.

I'd sent them off in May to be washed and stored for the summer, but in the late fall, when I needed them, the laundry insisted they had been returned. I said no; the laundry said yes—and the weather got colder.

So cold, in fact, that I couldn't wait for my insurance company to complete its own little inquiry and was delighted when they said to buy a new set and send along the bill.

I didn't stay delighted for long. A week after the fluffy new ones arrived, my contrite laundry informed me the old batch had turned up on some top shelf under a stack of drapes and they'd send them right over.

I told my insurance man. He sent back my bill—unpaid. Stores can't take back used bedding. I now have eight heavy-weight winter blankets.

And what gets me down the most is that, as everybody knows, our winters just aren't as cold as they used to be!

ANOTHER YEAR!

A little wiser? "Perhaps!" Accomplishments in the last twelve months? "Well, John got a slight raise in salary in November. And we painted the house at long last. I suppose we could include our week's vacation in the Adirondacks in the summer. These things seemed so important at the time, but now they aren't even vivid recollections. Funny how insignificant they have become."

But aren't there moments which you do recall, things of which you are proud? "Yes, now that you mention it, but you wouldn't be interested. They were such small things—taking care of our elderly neighbor during her illness—helping at the Orphanage on Saturdays—bringing our friend's children along with ours to Church... assisting with the decorating and painting at the Church... I'm beginning to see what you mean. These are the important events of last year."

Try the above experiment on yourself. It's amazing how time will give a different perspective to our lives. True values, values of the heart and spirit are those that persist and become real. Your Church is where you cultivate this all-important aspect of living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Passing Scene

"What," inquired a member of the rising generation, "was so important about this One-Eyed Connelly that puts him on Page One when he dies? All it says about him is that he used to be a gate-crasher."

Well, it was this way: One-Eyed Connelly was an Irish tramp who made a pest of himself at all kinds of public events where admission was by ticket only. He was always trying to sneak in without the ticket—and he usually made it.

He used to get his name in the papers all the time, along with people named Shipwreck Kelly, Jimmy Walker, Al Capone, Slapsie-Maxie Rosebloom and Grover Whalen. He was part of the passing scene.

It isn't easy now to explain why this happened then, but it did happen. It seemed to be the accepted order of things at the time.

But things change. The passing scene passes. An Irish tramp named Connelly who used to crash gates and had no visible means of support hardly seems newsworthy now. Things will change again. A lot of tramps now in the news will be pretty puzzling when someone's grandchildren want to know why they were important.

Spring In Three Months

The trouble with people who take winter seriously is that they overestimate it. They think of it as an experience, or a state of mind, instead of as a season.

As a season, winter lasts only three months. Those frozen radiators, ditched cars and ice-clogged water pipes were fall. So were the snow, the galoshes and the frost-nipped fingers and ears—all fall.

Winter lasts only until the vernal equinox next March, when the earth's axis again will be tilted at right angles to the direction of the sun again, this making day and night approximately equal. From now on, the days will be getting longer and will continue to do so until next June, when they will begin to get shorter.

And remember—the frozen radiators, ditched cars and ice-clogged water pipes that will occur after next March 21 will be spring. So will everything else customarily blamed on winter, a little season tucked into the midst of a lot of other seasons that never seem to last long because winter in the North Temperate Zone seems to last forever.

Bad Politics

In three more weeks, Congress will be back in session. The summer and autumn breathing spell which was going to give the Eisenhower administration a chance to get its feet on the ground will have changed into the hurly-burly of election-year politics.

President Eisenhower has been conferring with the committee chairmen of his party, with a view to White House-Congress relationships in 1954. These are the subject of nearly every political observation being made these days by Washington observers.

It is significant that all the observers, being close to the political scene, are inclined to look at the same thing.

They are endlessly aware that the President is at a disadvantage in his relations with the politicians because he does not have the same grasp of politics that they have, being politicians.

It could be wished in this connection that more of the observers would get away from the scene of politics and do some of their observing on the scene of everyday American living where people look upon politics at its best as a necessary evil and think of bad politics as an intolerable obstruction to good government.

A majority of them who voted in 1952 were sick to death of what they considered bad politics. They threw out of Washington what they considered to be a crowd of bad politicians.

The observers who are harping on President Eisenhower's troubles with the politicians would be doing a service to truth in reporting if they'd point out occasionally that the politicians are in trouble with President Eisenhower. The American people are sick to death of politics.

Ike Likes 'Ike'

When President Eisenhower told a White House news conference last week he had been called "Ike" all his life and wasn't offended when headline writers used the nickname, these harassed letter counters breathed a sigh of relief.

The fact is that Dwight D. Eisenhower either was going to be called "Ike" in headlines or wasn't going to appear in some of the headlines at all because he wouldn't fit.

Most newspapers have had to come to grips with the reality of a presidential name of 10 letters—the longest since Washington.

The fact is that if George Washington were in politics today, he either would be "George" or "Washy" in headlines. "Washington" would be too long to fit.

Dealing With Reality

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The Specter Of 'Stalemate Government'

"Stalemate government," which plagues France and divides Britain and Italy with blocs and groups that hold the balance of may confront the Eisenhower administration in the next session of power in the national legislature, Congress, just as it has blocked effective party action in the post-war years of the Democratic administration.

For several days now there have been attempts to paint the picture of a coming legislative session in which the President's "leadership" over his own party will be asserted, but the realistic truth is that nobody can lead either party in Congress today and command unwavering support.

ACTUALLY, a flexible majority has proved the only way any progress can be made and it may well be questioned whether the attempt to carry out programs conference with the leaders of one party is necessarily more than giving lip service to an obsolete principle.

Mr. Eisenhower, on the other hand, would be well-advised to confer also with certain Democrats in Congress and to espouse principles rather than to try to dictate the actual legislation.

For there are four political blocs in America today — two inside each of the major parties. To ignore or gloss over this situation is to make more difficult the President's job and to bring about less rather than more cohesion.

It makes good reading, of course, for the President to be talking about the leadership of his party. It is always more pleasant to talk of things as they ought to be rather than what they truly are.

UNFORTUNATELY, wishful thinking cannot erase the fundamental divisions in each of the two major political parties. The sooner they are recognized for what they are, the more effectively can the barrier of "stalemate government" be overcome.

Basically the division between Republicans and Democrats which emerges just before political campaigns has little to do with the way votes are cast on fundamental issues in Congress.

The cleavage today inside each party is between the conservative liberals, on the one hand, and the radical liberals on the other.

Neither party has any bloc of ultra-conservatives who would disregard the necessary care for human requirements under federal authority and take refuge in hair-splitting differences between federal and state rights and hence do nothing in an emergency. Nor is there any differentiation merely along party lines when international issues are at stake.

INSIDE THE Democratic party are just as many members of Congress who don't want to bow down to the Communists at home or abroad as there are inside the Republican party. There are also just as many members inside the Democratic party who don't want to keep on handing out American taxpayers' money to foreign countries as there are inside the Republican party.

Americans are the same under the skin, despite the name-calling of those who like to characterize anybody as an "isolationist" who has a bit of national pride or shows resentment against the acts those allies engaged in trade with the enemy during the Korean war. The real issues are economic and domestic — whether taxpayers' money is to be wasted abroad and whether American enterprises are to be weakened by threats of government ownership and control of business.

There are groups in American politics which would delegate monopolies in governmental authority to private organizations, and there are groups which favor confiscation of private property, though they disguise it as "social welfare." As long as these ideological differences prevail, the Republican party will remain divided — and so will the Democratic party.

MR. EISENHOWER can lead only through the force of public opinion — the less partisan he himself happens to be politically, the better his chances for public support of those measures which are really meritorious.

Those among the President's advisers who are egging him on to a split with Republicans in Congress who may conscientiously disagree with him are bound to do a disservice to Mr. Eisenhower and his program.

The better way would be to recognize that there are Republicans who cannot and will not support certain legislative proposals.

It would be folly for Mr. Eisenhower to yield to the advice of those who want him to run his party on a totalitarian basis and attempt some of those ill-fated "purges" in politics which Democratic as well as Republican presidents have tried in the past only to increase the enmities within their own party.

'Twas The Day After

By TRUMAN TWILL

The reason so many Christmas presents miss fire is the same reason so many fishermen don't catch fish.

Not knowing what the fish like to eat the fishermen offer them what they (the fishermen) would like to eat if they were fish.

The Christmas giver chooses what he'd like to find under his own Christmas tree.

This accounts for a canary yellow vest decorated with a print of a back and white springer spaniel and a row of brass buttons which Santa Claus left under my Christmas tree.

It accounts for weird and wonderful neckties which millions of males will wear with brave little smiles for the next few months, until they can be dropped quietly into oblivion.

It accounts for vast numbers of books which won't be read, beverages which won't be enjoyed, tobacco which will be smoked with marginal enjoyment and gimcracks that will be exclaimed over once and put out of sight forever.

Not that it matters, of course, because it's the spirit behind the gift that counts. But there is the question when it's all over of what a gaffer who remembers Jean Harlow can do with a canary-yellow vest decorated with black and white springer spaniels.

The brass buttons, incidentally, are the butt ends of Remington cartridges. This is an added attraction, according to those who know about such things, the beardless young slipper-slappers.

The buttons are additional evidence that the spirit behind this gift was going strong at the time. The givers, bless them, must have been full of it, in its most singular form. Maybe plural, too.

They saw the thing in the display window of the fony New York City cat trap where it came from and their cheery faces were wreathed in smiles as they plunked down the wherewithal and told the clerk where to send the package. Their spirit shows through the hearty inscription on the card tucked in the pocket, to make certain there'd be no quick shuffle on Christmas morning to bestow the thing on someone young enough to wear it—someone about 30 years younger than old Reddi-Kut with his salt and pepper threads plucked from plain gas-pipe racks.

I cannot wear the vest to work. It would keep the boss awake.

I can't wear it to church.

I can't wear it to a social gathering: no one ever gets that sociable in the gatherings I attend.

I can't wear it to do chores in RFD. There would be a stampede, and the cows wouldn't let the milk down. I can't wear it to bed because its too short in case of firemen. I can't wear it on a vacation for fear a constable might get ideas and run me into the pokey. I may have to learn to go to horse races simply because a couple of wags got rid of some inhibitions at Merry Christmas.

So They Say

It is our responsibility to provide youth (on battle fronts) with the understanding we think we inherited from our forefathers, our traditions. — President Eisenhower.

Can't Turn Your Back a Minute These Days

Ambassador of Americanism

By JOHN HARRIS

The children, as youngsters will everywhere, gleefully figured that after a journey of 45,000 miles through the Far East Vice President Nixon and his chief aide, Chris Herter Jr. would arrive home with more strange toys than Santa Claus has in his bag.

On Christmas Day there certainly would be faraway gifts aplenty on the Nixon and Herter Christmas trees — but, alas, none from such fabulous marts as Mandalay, Bangalore and Bangkok. Hong Kong and Singapore, and other story-book places Nixon visited on his just-completed good-will tour.

"Outside of Japan," said Herter, "there's little to buy for children."

And then, there was plenty of work to do from dawn to midnight. Nixon confided that tours of state, with all their pomp, are "harder than the toughest campaigning."

WHAT WAS the trip like? What did they find? Is the red tide still rising in the Orient?

Nixon soon will give his impressions in an address to the American people. On his return last week he had to plunge immediately into the planning conferences at the White House.

Only for the ears of President Eisenhower, who sent him, the State Department and the National Security Council has he disclosed the results of his face-to-face meetings with roughly all the rulers and statesmen of the Orient.

The journey, which took 75 days, carried Nixon and Herter to every land from Indonesia to Korea and from New Zealand to Iran — and then on across North Africa back to Washington. Twenty-one lands in all.

It had been arduous. "Still," said Herter, smiling, "it was the trip of my life. It was fascinating and the vice president felt that way, too. Why, I brought along a best-seller mystery, an FBI story, and there it is on the desk. I never opened it."

THE VISITS to world-renowned spots were not taken for simple sightseeing. They were done to please local leaders.

Advance State Department experts came aboard their plane, the military constellation bearing Nixon's party of 10, for each new country.

There was briefing, talks to be prepared, different local situations and problems to be digested, a constant flow of messages. Nixon and others often worked in their shirtsleeves. Mrs. Nixon worked at notes, often with her shoes kicked off.

"I never was in the Orient before," said Herter. "It was an eye-opener. We've all heard of Asia's teeming millions. They're there, all right. We've also heard of the great mysteries of the East. I don't think there are so many."

"Rangoon, Saigon, Bangkok, like ordinary cities, have plenty of street cleaning to do. There are loads of people on bikes — looks like a lot of Asia is on bikes, though in many places bikes are a luxury. There are few automobiles in the southern areas. Tokyo is different."

IN TOKYO right next to the airport, is a big steel factory. They have elevated trains like ours. Tokyo has all the trappings of a big Western city. Neon lights. Japan has come back extraordinarily. Average literacy in Asia is 20 per cent or less. In Japan its 90 per cent.

"Everywhere we went there was no cold, sullen, silent treatment. We were met with complete friendliness, trusting friendliness. The receptions everywhere were real and warm. Big crowds."

"At Singapore the vice president, despite the security guard, reached out and shook hands with a mother and child. He did the same in Jakarta. All the front pages showed pictures of this."

"Word spread that there's a friendly man." By the time we reached Hong Kong the Chinese were out in huge, cheering crowds. "That handshake set the tone of the trip — one of these people had never known."

"The Japanese were goggle-eyed over it. In Osaka the vice president got a ticker-tape reception. Someone asked how it compared with the reception there for the Emperor. The reply was that not so many had come to see the Emperor. Why not? They said: 'The Emperor doesn't shake hands.'"

"In Tokyo Nixon stopped the convoy — and that's as hard as stopping a diesel — and talked several times to people. Someone would interpret. One shopkeeper came over and asked a woman, 'Did he give you candy?' The woman drew herself up proudly and said, 'Not at all. He shook hands with us!'

"It went over like wildfire. The embassy people were astonished. They had never seen this before. It wasn't so novel, but fundamental."

"These millions of people struggling for existence want peace and security just as much as we do."

THE DINNER with the Mikado?

"It was very Western," said Herter, "but according to custom, the vice president dressed in a cut-away and rode there in a carriage drawn by eight white horses. The Mikado's cook is the only cordon bleu graduate in the Orient. There was delicious fish and tenderloin. The dinner was very elegant, formal, reserved."

Dinner with Syngman Rhee at Seoul?

"It was a small gathering. I mostly remember his face. It is extraordinary, character and nobility. His toast to Nixon was very moving. He is a courageous old man, stubborn, too; but you really feel he is a friend on our side in the fight against Communism. He hates Communists with passion."

CHINESE KNOWN as 'overseas

Chinese" are the most prosperous people throughout the lands of Southern Asia, Herter declared. "They have been getting reports of cruelty back home and they are swinging away from Communism. They are definitely becoming anti-Communist, but not necessarily going along with Chiang Kai-shek."

"He is, however, becoming a symbol of resistance that he was not before. His great value is as a rallying force throughout southeast Asia. That is true in Indonesia, Malaya, Thailand and Indochina."

"Biggest Communist gains are among students and at university levels in southeast and south Asia. "Our student exchange and library programs help. "The Communist tide is receding in the areas we visited. Still, we can't be unaware of huge Red China still building and dominating."

HERTER TOLD of the leaders they met: Malcolm McDonald, Ramsay MacDonald's son, Britain's greatest Far East expert — a "terrific guy respected by all Asians." . . . Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, very pro-American, uses American slang. . . . Bao Dai, French General Navarre, Nehru, Yoshida, Sokaarno, Menzies, Chiang Kai-shek, the two Burmese leaders, President U. Ba U., and Premier U. Nu, and scores more.

Nixon surely has talked with a greater number of Far East leaders than any other living American. Herter was full of praise for the vice president.

"He worked like a dog," Herter said. "I never saw such physical endurance. He never took a day off the entire trip. That meant keeping to a tight schedule. That's hard in the 90-degree and higher humidity in southeast Asia. He was always on the go before 8 a.m. and usually was up until after midnight and often after 1 a.m. working on notes."

"He certainly gave the people the feeling that the United States is taking a deeper interest in Asia."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Let us bow our heads for a moment in tribute to the thousands who will be trampled in department store basements in the next 48 hours.

This is the "legion of the condemned." . . . and people who said "there's lots of time left to do Christmas shopping."

I met a veteran in New York the other day pale and shaking. "Just back from Korea?" I asked. "Macy's," he said, and fainted at my feet.

On the way to the hospital he kept muttering "it was awful. . . we never had a chance."

We did what we could for the poor man but the doctors say it will be weeks before he recovers. He is to be kept absolutely quiet and nurses are to tell him that if he is a good boy and takes his nerve tonic he can go right to Korea as soon as he's up.

I said "you mean you're not even going to tell him when it's Christmas?" The doctor said, "and give him a relapse? If he hears any excitement at all we'll tell him it's Fourth of July and shoot off a few firecrackers in his room."

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Panmunjom Holdout

Dear Richard: Well, who am I to judge you too harshly? You've been through the hell of war. Maybe you know what it is to be on Heartbreak Ridge with your feet frozen and your hands too stiff to clutch a rifle.

The mind can suffer as much as the body under such ordeals. Still considering those who stood and died or who survived with their love of country untouched, I get groggy trying to figure out you and the few others who refuse to be repatriated and who brush off Uncle Sam for Malenkov and Mao.

Something hard to understand happens to an American fighting man when Old Glory whipping in a breeze leaves him cold, when he jilts the old gal known as the Statue of Liberty and when he prefers "The Volga Boatman" to "Oh, Say Can You See."

When whoever you've met in Korea looks better than Nathan Hale or Ethan Allen or George Washington, when borscht seems better than Yankee pot roast, when Red Square makes a more inspiring picture than Concord Bridge and when you can swoop an American eagle for a Russian bear, something has got all fouled up in your noggin, soldier.

"Now I have a goal in life," you say in a letter to your mom. Kid, you're a bad judge of goal posts.

You also write, "We have outdoor and indoor sports, folk dancing, cultural concerts and now we have skating on flooded rice fields." That snarls me up. What! No outdoor and indoor sports in America? You mean you have to join the Reds to get them? And what goes with that skating crack?

Uncle Sam can give you all the skating you need. This is the first time he knew you had to have your skating on both ice and rice. As far as that tripe about folk dancing and cultural concerts are concerned, buddy, it must have been put in by some commie dictating over your shoulder.

Any GI whose heart is broken when he can't get folk dancing or cultural music is a stand-out for the National Award as the Most Unusual GI of the Year.

Well, I will give you all the breaks and make a guess you got all fouled up unwillingly. Few people back home want to blast you. They feel sorry for you.

They have a hunch you will regret it all the first time you hear a good description of a cheeseburger, get news from the spring baseball training camps, or get to thinking about Fourth of July, Washington's birthday, Easter and Christmas back home.

You won't like being in a country where you can't talk back to a cop, say "NUTS" to a guy knocking on your door at midnight or get any answer when you explain you have been arrested by mistake and would rather not confess in a fake trial.

Maybe what you need is a good musical show, a good steak dinner a day at a clam bake and a peek at a Christmas tree. A good dream of a hayride over the snowy Minnesota hills or a long forgotten sandlot game of one-on-one could do it. Or maybe a snapshot of your dog "Scratch." Anyhow, I'm still hoping you get untwisted.

Yours,

Oscar Purkey

PS—Could it be you have soured up on Uncle Sam because the Army has just reinstated powdered eggs?

("Adlai Stevenson says the four fears have replaced the four freedoms in American life and that it distresses him no end.)

Fearless Adlai, all love and kisses, Fears no Whites and fears no Hisses; He fears n spy, no bomb, no knife. . . . How fearless is he with YOUR LIFE! ! !

Crumbiest of all humans, it seems to us, are the guys and dolls who have any part in the fake charity rackets, raising vast sums and giving 10 per cent or less to charity. . . . That crack of the National Kids' Day Foundation, "We will match our record against any other group raising funds by mail," was a beaut.

Looking Backward

FROM THE NEWS FILES

FIVE YEARS AGO — Father Cyril Fisher of Chicago is spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Charles Fisher of Franklin Street.

Marion Cox of Salem was awarded a $35 prize for the best flower painting in the 14th annual New Year show during January at the Butler Art Institute in Youngstown. This year 587 artists submitted 1,592 oil and water color paintings, breaking all records in the number of works entered in a New Year show.

Parties And Weddings Vie For Honors During Holiday Season

Parties and weddings in Salem vie for honors this holiday season, with an uncommon number of weddings scheduled both before and after Christmas Day.

Bonnie Bowman Wed To Paul Elson Here

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elson, who were married Saturday at 2 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church by Rev. C. Clare Davis, church pastor, are making their home at 416 S. Broadway.

The bride is the former Mrs. Bonnie Bowman of S. Broadway and the bridegroom, an employee of the National Sanitary Co., formerly resided in Moundsville, W. Va.

Attending the couple were her mother, Mrs. Hazel Shaw of Alliance, and Jesse Carreon of Salem. The bride chose a powder blue dress with blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. Her mother wore a light blue dress with a gardenia corsage.

The bride's young daughter, April Jane Koch, also was dressed in blue for the wedding.

A miniature bride figurine topped the tiered wedding cake served the 2 guests at the bride's home on S. Broadway. Friends and relatives from Salem and Alliance brought gifts for the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Elson plan to take a trip in February.

Yule Party Enjoyed By Hy-Timers Club

A Christmas party and gift exchange was enjoyed by the Hy-Timers when the club members met Tuesday night at the home of Janice Groves on the Washingtonville Road.

The hostess served refreshments, and Sally Hutchison invited the girls to meet Tuesday, Jan. 5, at her home on W. 6th St.

Dance" planned by 32 Salem High School girls tonight in the Masonic Temple will be one of the highlights of the season for the younger set.

Members of the Mariner Scout Troop are inviting three guests to their dance next Tuesday in the Masonic Temple. Dore Gatos plan a dance for Wednesday night and the Panthers and their guests will usher in the New Year at the home of John Todd on the Albany Rd.

Parties this week Wednesday were enjoyed by Petiteens and Hy-Timers. Holiday get-togethers will continue promising a gay time with many parties planned in homes throughout the city.

On the weekend schedule are the marriages of Donna Jean Scott and Robert Lynn in St. Paul Roman Catholic Church Saturday at 12:30 p.m.; the wedding of Dorothy Barnhouse and John Fritzman Saturday, the Doris Miller - Dale Garlock nuptials Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the First Christian Church and the wedding of Fred Koenreich and Nancy Lou Emmch Sunday at 4:30 p.m. in the Augsburg Lutheran Church in Toledo.

At the very start of the new year will be the wedding of Miss Sally Hurlburt and Dr. Robert Malone Rosemond Saturday, Jan. 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church.

Homer Everetts Wed 66 Years On Monday

LISBON Mr. and Mrs. Homer Everetts, 428 W. Washington St., lifelong residents of Center Township, will quietly observe their 66th wedding anniversary Monday.

Everetts, a retired farmer, is 93; his wife, the former Mary Lee, is 85. The couple, who live with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fox, were married Dec. 28, 1887.

They have 10 living children, nine of whom live in Columbiana County, 26 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Besides Mrs. Fox, the children are Harvey and George Everetts, both of Lisbon; Mrs. Lawrence Armstrong, of Lisbon Rd.; Mrs. Roy Cope of Leetonia Rd.; Mrs. Edwin King of Franklin Township; John and Hugh Everetts, both of Salem; Lloyd Everett of Fairfield Township and Lewis E. Everett of Barborton.

Tri-Debs Exchange Gifts

Tri-Debs enjoyed a Christmas party and gift exchange Monday night at the home of Shirley Zoccolo of Newgarden Ave.

Pictures were taken during the social hour and Lou Whinnery invited the members to meet Monday, Jan. 4, at her home on N. Ellsworth Ave.

GO TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY

NOW THAT . . .

The HURRY AND FLURRY of Christmas is over, you will want to settle down and make your plans for 1954.

MAYBE you are thinking of selling your old home and getting a new one?

MAYBE you have a large house and want a smaller one?

MAYBE you want a chicken farm, a dairy farm, or just a home in the country — or MAYBE you want a business of some kind?

We have homes of all kinds and sizes, farm, large and small; acreage, lots, businesses. MAYBE if you let us in on your wants, we can help. So make a New Year's Resolution, watch our ads, come in and talk over your wants. We will be glad to assist you in any way possible. See Burt C. Capel or Richard G. Capel.

OWNING YOUR HOME MEANS SO MUCH AND COSTS SO LITTLE — HERE IS SOMETHING UNUSUAL!

This property has a little less than two acres and is located a little off the main highway on one of Damascus' nice, exclusive streets. House has ten rooms and is modern with new hot air furnace. House in good repair and has tip-top job of new insulation over the entire house and is surrounded by beautiful shade and shrubbery which makes it very exclusive. Should be ideal for a nursing home.

This place is very desirable for small children, or it could be adapted nicely for two families, as owner has rented part of this home. Has good garage—in fact, it is a small barn and has a lot of room for other tools.

Now, if you want something nice and comfortable—where you can convalesce and not be annoyed by cars and trucks—here it is, and at the low price of $10,500.

If you are interested, see us at once as this won't last long, it will soon be in the hands of a new owner.

Girl Scouts Feted At Christmas Party

Sixteen Girl Scouts were present Tuesday evening at a Christmas party given by Mrs. Hyman Chentow in the beautifully decorated recreation room in her home on E. 9th St.

Games were played and Christmas Carols were sung. Later gifts were exchanged and refreshments served. The party was planned by a committee comprised of troop members. Mrs. Chentow was assisted by Mrs. Ronald Fleischer, leader, and Joan Fisher, assistant.

Musicale Presented By Piano Pupils

Mrs. Frank Stoudt of N. Broadway presented her piano pupils in a holiday musicale Monday afternoon. Forty pupils and guests comprised the audience.

A variety of numbers was included on the program. Colby Vincent played Jingle Bells and Bells Are Ringing. Linda Crawford's Dutch Dance was followed by Spider Dance and Campbells Are Coming by Deirdra Coy.

Brenda Smith's selections were Sun Dial and Shadows on the Moon, and Elliott Harris played Dixie Drum Major and Around the Campfire. Rookie and Silent Night by Neal Sangree were the numbers presented prior to Bells Are Ringing and Snake Dance by Richard Huber.

Three B's and Silent Night were Ruth Jacobson's selections, and Jingle Bells and Here Comes Santa Claus were played by Norman Sangree. Other piano solos included: Polish Dance by Jerry Crothers; Spinning Song and April Showers by Ed Enemark; Star of the East and Distant Bells by Barbara Bricker; March of the Wee Folk and Jingle Bells by Elizabeth Corso; There's Music in the Air and Eighteenth Century Flower Garden by Lucille Mansfield.

Swinguet and Blutchki were Sandra Enemark's numbers and the musical program concluded with Afternoon of a Faun and It's No Secret, played by Carolyn Falk. Mrs. Stoudt used appointments in the Christmas motif in serving refreshments to her guests.

North Benton Church Sunday Program Set

Pictures and music will be combined in the program to be presented Sunday at 8 p.m. under the theme, "A Holy Land Tour at Christmas" in the North Benton Presbyterian Church.

Miss Dora D. Henry, teacher of the Builder's Class of the church, will give an illustrated lecture, "Bible Thoughts in Bible Lands," featuring some 200 colored slides taken on her summer trip to the Holy Land.

John Hammond Jr. will be soloist and his numbers will be "The Holy City" and "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." Traditional Christmas music will be played on organ and piano by Mrs. Ruth Alles and Mrs. Helen Watkins.

The offering taken during the service will be used to purchase needed furnishings for the church's new educational building, part of which will be opened for inspection following the program.

Ever have trouble with your yeast breads? Then watch to see that your dough is at about 85 degrees during rising. If the dough is too warm the bread is likely to have a coarse texture and a "yeasty" flavor. If the dough is too cold, the bread may be on the heavy side and low in volume.

Install OES Officers At Homeworth

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saeger, newly installed patron and matron of Homeworth Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, presided at their first meeting Tuesday in the masonic temple there.

Santa Claus distributed gifts at this Christmas affair and refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Albright, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mangus, and Mrs. Jacob Sandi. Obligation Night will be observed at the next meeting, Tuesday, Jan. 12.

Other officers installed at the meeting last Saturday night include:

Associate patron and matron, Mr. and Mrs. Ford McQuilkin; secretary, Jean Wang; treasurer, Mrs. Virgil Jackson; conductress, Mrs. William Haymaker; associate conductress, Mrs. Kenneth H. Allen; chaplain, Mrs. Gordon DeVall.

Marshal, Mrs. J. Dwight Dye; organist, Mrs. Emil Logan; Adah, Mrs. Kenneth Micky; Ruth, Mrs. William McCoy; Escher, Mrs. Harold Stoffer; Martha, Mrs. Eugene Cover; Electa, Mrs. Lester Wallace; warden, Mrs. Donald Wallace; sentinel, J. Dwight Dye.

The incoming matron's theme is "Light." Her motto is "Brighten the Corner Where You Are."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Orwick, retiring patron and matron welcomed the guests including Mrs. Jack Herr of Minerva, grand representative of Montana; Mrs. Gilbert Marshall of Lisbon, grand matron of District 13; Marie Bye, matron of Alma Chapter, Sebring; Mrs. Alvin Seibrell of Alliance Chapter and Edith Ropp of Canton Chapter; past matrons and past patrons of Homeworth Chapter, Mrs. Walter Scott, Ford McQuilkin and Mr. and Mrs. John Liber.

During a recess, preparatory to the installation, Harold Stoffer sang "Nazareth" with Mrs. Liber as piano accompanist. Mrs. James Harbaugh was the inviting marshal and Mrs. Harry Orwick the installing officer. She was assisted by Mrs. Terry Ewing of Minerva, a past matron of Esther Chapter, and Mrs. Carlos Hahn as marshals; chaplain, Emil Logan; organist, Mrs. Liber; secretary, Mrs. Lowell Wagner; conductress, Mrs. Ralph Grimes; warden, Mrs. Athel Hahn; sentinel, Virgil Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Liber presented past patron and past matron jewels to Mr. and Mrs. Orwick following the installation. Brief talks were given by Mrs. Herr, Mrs. Ropp and Mrs. Marshall.

Mrs. Saeger announced her standing committees for the year. The chairmen are: Examining, Leona Gill; vouching, Mrs. Howard Emmons; instruction, Robert Saeger; registrar, Mrs. William Wymer; financial, Charles Edeburn; auditing, Kenneth Shaffer; bylaws, Harry Orwick; paraphernalia, Mrs. Lowell Wagner; ways and means, Mrs. Merle Maxwell; refreshments, Mrs. Martha Bowman; sunshine, Mrs. Ford McQuilkin; historical, Mrs. John Barnett; reporter, Jean Wang; charity work for the blind of Ohio, Mrs. Carlos Hahn.

Refreshments were served in the dining room which was decorated for Christmas. Caroller candles and holly were on the tables. The committee in charge included Mrs. Paul Wang, Miss Marjorie Wang, Mrs. Howard Emmons, Mrs. Clifford Wallace and Mrs. Martha Bowman.

The annual District 13 meeting will be held at Alliance Masonic Temple Jan. 6, followed by the annual school of instruction.

Voice Students Perform On Television Program

Voice students of Mrs. Esther Odoran presented a Christmas program Tuesday afternoon on Elaine Carroll's program over WKBN-TV in Youngstown.

The performers included Miss Darlene Beck of Greenford, Bonnie and Theresa Apple of Elkton, Mrs. Chris Perrott and the "Harmony Kids", Shirley Howells, Roger Ceigler Jr., and Pat Zeigler.

From 1940 to 1950 the proportion of men in the U.S. population who were married increased from about 62 to about 67 per cent.

MCMLIV Club Has Christmas Party

Thirteen members of the MCMLIV's met for a Christmas party and gift exchange Monday night at the home of Dorothea Wright of S. Union Ave.

Television was enjoyed during the evening which was spent informally. Refreshments featured a cake inscribed "Merry Christmas MCMLIV's."

Club pictures will be taken when the group meets Tuesday, Jan. 5, at the home of Jackie Welsh of S. Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Hosts At Dinner

Christmas came early for Mr. and Mrs. William Coy who entertained 440 members of their immediate family at a holiday dinner Sunday at their home on Maple St.

The couple's children, grandchildren and their only great-grandchild, Tommy Kornbau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kornbau of Salem, were included in the party. The Coys were showered with gifts and the entire family participated in a gift exchange.

Among the guests besides the Ernest Kornbaus were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kornbau and daughters, Helen and Eleanor, and friend Nelson Mellinger, of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ickes and daughter, Mary Jane and son, Wayne, a student in Cleveland Bible College, and his guest, Miss Barbara Tolson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coy and daughter, Janet of Columbiana; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Coy and daughters, Carol and Joanne of Columbiana and their house guest, Orville Schirmer, student from Germany who is attending Columbiana High School;

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Coy and children, Louise Bonita, Ronald, Allenjay, Diane, Jimmie and Betty of Springfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Little and children, Kim Gerald and Mary Ann of Salem.

Lawrence Coy's daughter, Linda Sue, who was ill, was the only member of the family who could not be present. Wayne Ickes gave the invocation prior to the dinner.

Choirs Go Caroling, Hold Gift Exchange

Sixty members of the Junior Choirs of the First Baptist and First Christian Churches under the direction of Mrs. E. C. Hammel Jr., went caroling Tuesday night.

The group visited both hospitals, the Home for Aged Women and the homes of 15 shut-ins, and also sang at the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Red Cross party held for underprivileged children in the Memorial Building.

Frank Ulom, owner of the Quaker City Bus Lines Incorporated, provided free transportation for the group, and the bus driver, John Fickes, donated his services.

After the caroling, a gift exchange was enjoyed at a party in the Baptist Church where a lighted Christmas tree and holiday decorations on the refreshment tables added to the festivities.

Mrs. Thomas Starkey, who was in charge of the refreshments, was assisted by Mrs. Edward Falk.

Mrs. L. E. Walters and son, Niel, and daughter, Mrs. Harold Sidwell of Winona were in Moundsville, W. Va. Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Walter's sister, Mrs. E. W. Yoho.

Goshen Union Mothers Club Holds Party

A 460 pound Santa Claus was the main attraction of the annual Christmas party which was held Monday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Santa, ordinarily known as Raymond Frye, who came from Minerva as the guest of Mrs. Kenneth Wyss, is a professional Santa, and once was the subject of an article in the American Magazine.

In addition to Santa and a candy treat, special movies were shown, and each grade presented a number. Instrumental music by the sixth grade included a flute solo by Jodene Moore; clarinet solo, John Herbert; and a selection by a quartet comprised of Su Ellen Ernst, Jean Meissner, Judy Davis and Fred Stanley.

The next regular meeting, Monday, Jan. 25, will be a panel discussion among the teachers and one mother from each room. The teachers are Mrs. Hobe, Mrs. Whitacre, Mrs. Ruggles, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Wuthrick and Miss French. The mothers are Mrs. Robert Risbeck, Mrs. Harold Wulf, Mrs. Leland Knoedler, Mrs. Virgil Sanor, Mrs. Robert Melka, Mrs. Donald Phillips and Mrs. Elmer Kerr.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Kenneth Phillips, chairman, Mrs. Roy Reed, Mrs. Lowell Sanor, Mrs. R. Myers, Mrs. Earl Mather, Mrs. Robert Buttermore, Mrs. Kenneth Cobbs and Mrs. Lowell Baker.

Gold Ray Has Yule Meeting And Program

Holiday decorations in the home of Mrs. Carl Lehwald of S. Lincoln Ave., made an apt setting for the Christmas meeting Tuesday of the Gold Ray of the Womens Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church.

Dishes, decorated in the Christmas motif, were used when a buffet breakfast was served. The table centerpiece was an arrangement of white mums.

Mrs. Don Harvey was in charge of the devotional service in the Christmas theme taken from Isaiah and Luke. Accompanied by Mrs. Frank Stoudt, the guest soloist, Mrs. Robert Aikenhead, sang "O Holy Night," as Winnie Catlos, Marcelee Naragon and Carol Lehwald, dressed in choir robes, knelt before an improvised manger in front of a lighted Christmas tree. The group sang "Silent Night" to conclude the service.

Mrs. Orein Naragon introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Maude Jones Gilmore of East Palestine, a former member of the group, who gave an introductory story of "The History of Our Lord," by Charles Dickens, and then reviewed Temple Bailey's book, "So This Is Christmas."

Other guests present were Mrs. Carl Asmus of East Palestine, Mrs. C. Care Davis, Mrs. Albert Catlos, Mrs. Lily Lehwald, Mrs. L. C. Martin, and Mrs. Harold Wykoff.

Instead of the usual Christmas exchange, members donated money to buy a gift for a shut-in. At the close of the meeting, the hostess served punch.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 2 at the S. Union Ave. home of Mrs. Kenneth McClaskey.

Colts and Fillies Club Carol On Horseback

The Salem Colts and Fillies Club members were caroling on horseback Wednesday night and visited the Home for Aged Women and both hospitals.

Afterward, the group went to the home of John Deagan on E. 3rd St. for a Christmas party and gift exchange.

A lighted Christmas tree and other holiday decorations were used in the home where the group enjoyed an informal evening concluded with a buffet lunch.

New Year's Eve, the members will be guests of Helen Marie Potter of Highland Ave.

Columbiana

Cold Cuts Crowd
At Carol SingVillage Joins New School Health Unit

COLUMBIANA — Only about 300 or 400 people braved the cold wind Thursday evening, to attend the fifth annual Christmas Eve community carol sing sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The truck supporting the platform for those in charge of the program was moved from the public square to a spot on S. Main St. just below the square for better protection from the wind. Treats of packaged candy had been prepared for distribution by Santa Claus to some 600 children.

About the same number of children received treats from Clipper Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, at its annual Christmas party at the Eagles tree on the public square at 1 p.m. Thursday. After the party, the Eagles treated the children too, a free show at the Masons theater.

Curtis Martin of Salem has bought of Donald Felger the restaurant on S. Main St. known as the Columbiana restaurant, and will take possession Saturday, Jan. 2.

SINCE THE Columbiana County board of health has been forced to curtail its services because of the failure of the county health levy at the November election, five schools, Columbiana, Fairfield, Leetonia, New Waterford and Unity, are cooperating in hiring two school nurses, Mrs. Ruth Gloss, 404 Union St., Columbiana, and Mrs. Sybel Degnan, Leetonia.

Mrs. Gloss will be at Columbiana Monday and Wednesday mornings, Thursday afternoon and Friday morning and afternoon; New Waterford Tuesday, Wednesday afternoon, and Thursday morning; and Unity Monday afternoon; Mrs. Degnan will be at Leetonia Monday, Wednesday afternoon and Thursday; Fairfield, Tuesday, Wednesday morning and Friday. The new arrangement will begin Monday, Jan. 4, Columbiana gaining a day of nursing service over the present county set-up. A Red Cross first aid course is scheduled to be taught at Fairfield School afternoons and evenings the week of Jan. 4.

TWO GRADUATES of Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Miss Erlene Wanda Eshler, home economics teacher in Columbiana High School, and Pvt. Loyal G. Cornelius of Fort Campbell, Ky., will be married in Berlin Center Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Miss Eshler is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Eshler of Berlin Center, and Pvt. Cornelius is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cornelius of Euclid.

Fairfield Ruritan Club, with a membership from Fairfield and neighboring townships in Columbiana and Mahoning Counties, installed officers for next year at a meeting at Heck's restaurant Wednesday evening. The officers are: Ben Winegart, president; Paul Wimer, vice president; Paul Wimer, secretary; Lester Fisher, treasurer; Samuel Ward, Edgar McCammon, Harry Miller and W. A. Morris, directors.

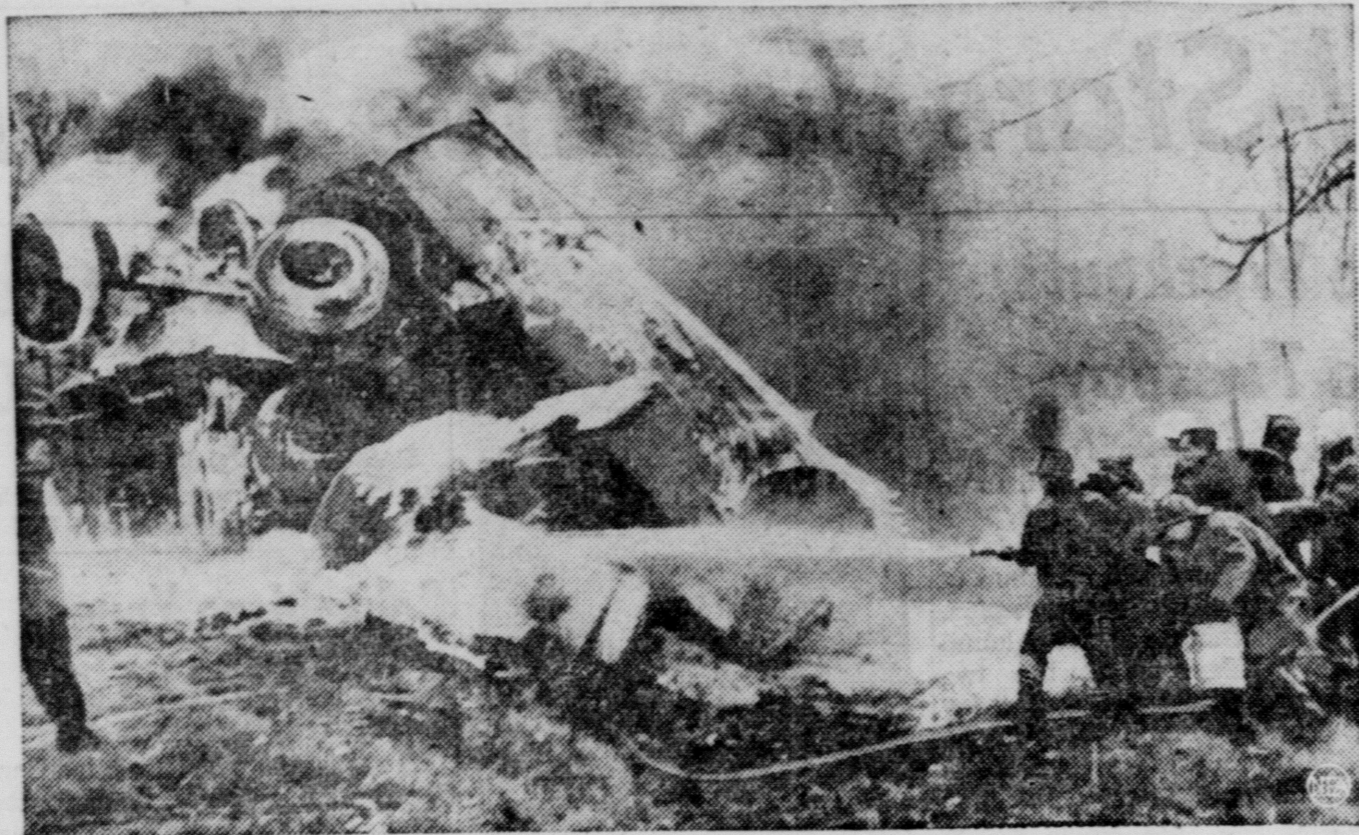

Rev. Donald J. Voelm of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church was the speaker, and gave a Christmas message illustrated with slides. There were 45 present.

The Senior High M.Y.F. will have a covered dinner in the dining room of the Methodist Church at 5:30 p.m. Sunday for college students and friends no longer in school.

Relatives here have received word of the death of Mrs. W. Theodore Koch, who was killed when struck by a car at Ojai, Calif., Nov. 21. Mr. and Mrs. Koch went from Columbiana to California in 1909. Surviving relatives here are Mrs. Kathryn Miller and Miss Nell Koch, nieces, and Dr. C. M. Koch and Robert Webb, nephews.

Newspaper Truck Drivers
End Six-Day Walkout

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Truck drivers of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune were to return to work today, permitting the newspapers to resume deliveries halted during a six-day strike of the AFL Teamsters' Union.

Both sides Friday accepted terms of a new 26-month contract worked out in negotiation sessions arranged by federal conciliators. The pact's main provision was for a 15-cent hourly pay raise for the approximately 100 drivers.

Only papers sold during the strike were those purchased on a "cash and carry" basis in the Star-Tribune building's main lobby. Sales were limited to five copies per person.

GOP Group Supports
Rhodes For Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Republican committee of Jackson County today added its voice to a call for State Auditor James A. Rhodes to run for governor.

"A ground swell of genuine enthusiasm is growing for your candidacy," said a telegram from Committee Chairman Fred Rice to Rhodes, a native of the county.

The Jackson Sun-Journal had this to say in an editorial:

"Jackson County is understandably proud of Jim Rhodes. We think he would make the best possible candidate the Republicans could offer and we urge the GOP leadership to pool their efforts and support behind him."

And a Lima News editorial said: "With Rhodes in the race, Republicans would be assured of a strong adversary for Gov. Lausche. We believe he should toss his hat in, and soon."

Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche, former Cleveland mayor and judge, has announced for a fifth two-year term with prospects he will be unopposed in the May primary election.

Rhodes, former Columbus mayor and auditor, appears willing to oppose Lausche in the November election if assured the GOP nomination without opposition.

Five-Time Mayor Of Chicago Dies At 93

CHICAGO (AP)—Carter H. Harrison, 93, who was mayor of Chicago five terms and whose life was an integral part of the city's stormy history, died Christmas Day.

Harrison and his father—also Carter H. Harrison—governed Chicago for 22 of its first 72 years. The family believed this was a record unequalled anywhere in the country.

Harrison, a Democrat, also served as collector of internal revenue from 1933 until 1944, when he retired.

Harrison's father also was mayor five terms and in 1893 was assassinated by a political fanatic. Young Harrison then was boomed for mayor and among his followers were "Bathhouse John" Coughlin and "Hinky Dink" Kenna, Chicago's former powerful 1st Ward aldermen for many years.

Harrison was nominated by the Democrats in 1897 and then literally cycled his way to election. This sport was very popular at the time and Harrison was one of its devotees. Lithographs appeared showing Harrison at the wheel, wearing a turtle-necked sweater and gripping a pair of "scorcher" handlebars. Buttons were worn proclaiming him "not the champion cyclist, but the cyclists' champion."

Harrison served four consecutive two-year terms beginning in 1897.

He returned for a four-year term in 1911. He was 73 when President Roosevelt named him collector of internal revenue after Harrison had campaigned for Roosevelt's election.

Southern College Football All-Stars Trounce North, 20-0

Southern Line Dominates Play

Bratkowski's Passes Set Up Dixie Scoring

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"Our quarter-backs hardly had a chance to raise their arms," said Purdue Coach Stu Holcomb, whose North team lost 20-0 in the Shrine's North-South College All-Star football game last night.

"That South line was really fired up," he continued. "They out-charged us all night."

Although quarterback Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia set up all three South scores with his passing and punting, it was devastating defensive play which really made things rough for the North.

Crawford Mims, an All America guard from Mississippi; Tom Miner, a big quick Tulsa end; Ed Meadows, a battering-ram tackle from Duke; and Ed Merrifield, an alert, pint-sized halfback from Missouri played terrific defensive games.

Mims was voted the outstanding player in the game by sports-writers.

Merrifield, only 5-7½, intercepted 2 passes by Illinois' Elroy Falkenstein, 1 on the 11 and the other at the 3, and ran them back for a total of 30 yards. He also helped break up several others.

Mims, Meadows and Miner led the hard-charging Rebels in a continual harassment of North ball carriers. Holcomb had predicted his team would display a powerful ground game, but the North wound up with a minus 14 yards rushing.

The South, coached by Andy Gustafson of Miami, collected 88 yards on the ground and 120 on Bratkowski passes. The North got 119 yards on passes by Falkenstein and Purdue's Roy Evans.

A crowd of 44,715, a record for the game, saw Bratkowski complete only 6 of 17, but two of them were long heaves to Georgia teammate John Carson and led to touchdowns.

High Scoring Seen In Blue-Gray Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Unless the stars are wrong today, the 15th annual Blue-Gray football shindig looks like another wide open, free scoring affair.

As usual the experts are picking the South, but they've got their fingers crossed. The kickoff is at 1:30 p. m. CST.

The South leads the series 10-4. Coach Rip Engle of Penn State, the Yanks' head man, has rounded up one of the best balanced squads ever to represent the North.

The Yankees can explode for touchdowns with little or no provocation, both on the ground and in the air, as they have during practice this week.

The usual quota of professional scouts were on hand to look the All-Stars over as prospects for the pro draft next year.

They'll be watching such players as the Rebels' passing whiz kids, Jackie Parker of Mississippi State, Don Ellis of Texas A. & M., and Lamar McHan of Arkansas.

Yankee aerialists Tony Rados of Penn State and Don Rydolph of Utah are equally gifted at tossing.

QUESTIONS

1. What four major league managers lost their jobs during 1954?
2. How long did the riding comeback of Earl Sande last?
3. What fighters knocked out Joe Louis?
4. What former national tennis champion played for the U. S. Naval Academy team?
5. When did Willie Hoppe, now 66, win his first world's billiard title?

ANSWERS

1. Rogers Hornsby, Charlie Dressen, Jimmie Dykes, and Marty Marion lost managerial jobs in 1954, but Dykes moved right into the Baltimore job.
2. Earl Sande's comeback lasted nine days, during which the 54-year-old ex-trainer rode one winner.
3. Max Schmeling in 1936 and Rocky Marciano in 1951 knocked out Joe Louis.
4. Joseph R. Hunt, former U. S. Naval Academy athlete, won the national singles tennis title in 1943.
5. Willie Hoppe won his first world's billiard title on Jan. 15, 1906, in Paris, beating Maurice Vignaux, the French Lion.

Jim Miller of the University of Wisconsin was the Big Ten's leading passer in 1953. He gained 683 yards passing and tossed six touchdowns passes.

112 College Teams To Meet In Tourneys

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the 17 holiday basketball tournaments, bringing together 112 hand-picked college teams on courts from New York to Portales, N.M., get underway today with action in New York, Kansas City and Hempstead, N.Y.

Top ranked Indiana and second rated Kentucky, winner of its own tournament earlier in the week, will sit out the holiday court carnivals but six members of the top 10 add flavor to five of the tourneys.

Unbeaten Duquesne (3) is the favorite for the second annual cage festival opening at Madison Square Garden today. The Oklahoma Aggies (5) are the choice in the All-College event starting in Oklahoma City Monday.

Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers (6), also undefeated, figure to be the team to beat in the Louisville Invitational which opens Monday. North Carolina State (9) is one of the choices for the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, Dec. 28-30. And Fordham (7) and Holy Cross (10) are in the Sugar Bowl Tournament.

Duquesne meets New York University (4-1) in the first round at the Garden tonight. La Salle (6-2), featuring All-America Tom Gola, goes against a crippled St. Louis team in the nightcap.

Before they take the floor at night, Brigham Young (7-0) meets Manhattan (3-3) and Niagara (5-1) plays St. John's of Brooklyn (3-2). Kansas State is the choice in the Big Seven affair, which brings together all members of the conference plus the University of Washington. Kansas meets Colorado and Missouri goes against Iowa State in today's play.

The tournament at Hofstra in Hempstead brings into action several of the East's top small colleges. The field includes favored Lafayette, defending champions Cortland Teachers, American University, Hofstra, Delaware, Wagner, Lehigh and Wesleyan.

The Dixie Classic shapes up as one of the best of the holiday season. In addition to North Carolina State, the field includes Oregon State, recent conqueror of Indiana, Navy, North Carolina, Seton Hall, Duke, Tulane and Wake Forest.

The Oklahoma Aggies line up against Furman, Oklahoma City, Mississippi, Wyoming, Cincinnati, Santa Clara and Tulsa. And at Louisville, Western Kentucky sends its high scoring five against a field that includes Louisville, Eastern Kentucky, Murray, Siena, Villanova, Houston and Xavier (Ohio).

The All-American at Owensboro, which doesn't start until Dec. 30, brings together Maryland, South Carolina, Arizona State, Evansville, Tennessee, Denver, St. Francis (N.Y.) and Kentucky Wesleyan.

All of the Southwest Conference members with Alabama as the invited guest take part in the Houston jamboree.

Duquesne Favored In Holiday Festival

NEW YORK (AP)—Favored Duquesne, which ranks third among the nation's college basketball fives, faces a tough road in the eight-team Holiday Festival opening at Madison Square Garden today—particularly if last year's result means anything.

The Dukes from Pittsburgh take on New York University, with a 4-1 record, in the first game of tonight's doubleheader starting at 7:45 p. m., EST. La Salle (6-2) faces injury-riddled St. Louis (4-2) in the second game. St. Louis will be minus two of its stars, Dick Boushka and Jack Shockley, both hospitalized by a blood disease.

Last year's tourney was captured by Utah State, which wasn't given much of a chance when the competition got underway.

Duquesne, which features a high scoring trio in Dick Ricketts, Jim Tucker and Si Green, already has whipped Ge'eva, St. Francis (Pa.), Pittsburgh, Wake Forest, Carnegie Tech, Texas and Toledo. NYU defeated Utah State in its most recent effort.

Brigham Young (7-0) and Manhattan (3-3) open the tournament this afternoon in the first game of a twin-bill starting at 2 p. m., EST. Niagara (5-1) and St. John's of Brooklyn (3-2) meet in the second contest.

On Monday, the Brigham Young-Manhattan winner will clash with the Duquesne-NYU victor, and the Niagara-St. John's winner will meet the St. Louis-La Salle winner. That doubleheader will start at 7:45 p. m., EST.

The festival winds up Wednesday night with a tripleheader starting at 6 p. m., EST.

DEAN—Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen is aiming his Kansas basketball team at his 31st conference championship.

Ex-Major League Star, Patsy Donovan, Dies

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP)—Patrick J. (Patsy) Donovan, 88—who managed five major league baseball teams, totaled more than 2,000 hits in his 15-year career and had a lifetime batting average of .301—died yesterday.

He often claimed in later years that he was instrumental in bringing Babe Ruth to the Boston Red Sox in 1914 through friendship with one of the Catholic Xaverian Brothers who coached Ruth at a Baltimore orphanage.

A native of County Cork, Ireland, Donovan broke into organized baseball in 1886 with Lawrence of the old New England League and went on to a long and notable career in the majors.

Donovan managed the Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Nationals, Washington, Brooklyn and the Boston Red Sox, as well as Jersey City and Buffalo in the International League.

Trabert, Maureen Captured Big Tennis Honors During Year '53

By FRANK ECK

NEW YORK — A 23-year-old former sailor, less than three months out of the Navy, and a 19-year-old California miss carried off the big tennis championships at Forest Hills.

Unranked by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association because of limited tennis activity while in the service, Cincinnati's Tony Trabert won the National Singles crown in convincing fashion. He upset favored Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Prior to the Nationals, Trabert beat Seixas, 5-7, 0-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-3, at Newport, R.I., but in this match Seixas' downfall followed a knee injury in the second game.

Seixas won his first major title when he trounced Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, 9-7, 6-3, 6-4, in the All-England final at Wimbledon.

Maureen Connolly, in winning her third straight National, beat Doris Hart, 28, of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-2, 6-4.

Little Mo, as the San Diego girl is known among the tennis set, completed the first grand slam of the world's four major national tournaments for women. Unbeaten on the grass, she also won the Australian, England and French championships.

Her only setback abroad came in the Rome International when she bowed in the final to Miss Hart, 4-6, 9-7, 6-3.

Indoors, Arthur Larsen, 27-year-old Californian, won the singles title by beating Nielsen, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. Mrs. Thelma Long of Australia

Quakers Continue Workouts; Sebring To Be Foe Tuesday

Salem Quaker Coach John Cabas, despite the holiday season, has continued to stage practice sessions for the Quaker cagers in preparation for the contests in the offing.

Next on the Salem agenda are the Sebring Trojans, winners of three of four games, who will play here Tuesday evening. The Quakers have a special scire to settle with the Trojans, who beat Salem 66-37 last season.

The squad members have been pointing for both Sebring and East Palestine all season long, and would like nothing better than to beat the Trojans next week.

This week Cabas has had his boys working out with a group of alumni. After a three-hour session, Monday morning and the Alumni game Tuesday night, the two groups practiced again Wednesday and Thursday mornings, with the varsity holding a workout of its own Wednesday afternoon. Taking yesterday off, both teams played again this morning.

Cager Tells Of Bribe Attempt

Player Asked To 'Fix' Drake-Iowa State Tilt

DES MOINES (AP)—Ben Bumbry, star Drake University basketball forward who said he was approached to "fix" the score of the recent Drake-Iowa State game, also spoke for a teammate when he told the individual "no dice." Details of the attempted bribe were disclosed yesterday.

Bumbry said he was approached by a young man who "mentioned $300 one time and $500 another time." The St. Louis senior said the man wanted Drake to lose the game, played Tuesday night, by at least eight points, preferably by 10.

Bumbry said he told the man "no dice" and when the man mentioned Willis Cerf, Drake's sophomore center from Los Angeles, he told him, "I don't think Cerf will do anything like that."

Bumbry declined an offer to meet the man later "if I changed my mind." He reported the incident to Jack McClelland, Drake coach and athletic director, who notified authorities.

Bumbry said he didn't know if the man, who has been questioned by police but is not being held, approached Cerf.

Police said they doubt if there is enough evidence to prosecute the man, identified as a "young Des Moines business man." It was indicated the case would be turned over to the Polk County attorney's office when police finish their investigation.

Under a new Iowa law, attempting to influence an athletic contest by bribery carries a possible penalty of up to a $10,000 fine and as much as 10 years in prison.

THE ALUMNI squad was bolstered the latter part of the week by the addition of Bob Coy and Bob Theiss, both of Western Reserve. The Varsity was able to hold its own, despite the more experienced, more mature competition.

On Wednesday, the Alumni walloped the Quakers, but the young er players bounced back to take two of three encounters Thursday. Although their bigger opponents controlled the board, the Quakers fastbreaks enabled them to notch the twin victories.

Cabas will make full use of the 10-day layoff period following the Sebring hassle until the next game with East Palestine Jan. 8. He says "This break divides the season into two parts, enabling us to regroup our forces for the second half of the year."

A large delegation of Sebring fans is expected to follow Ray Schaefer's quintet into the Salem gym Tuesday night.

Salem will be out to extend its present three game winning streak.

Browns 5½-Point Favorites To Defeat Lions Tomorrow

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns were favorites, this was done mainly on the strength of the passing arm of the "big one" tomorrow when the championship of the National Football League will be decided on the frozen turf of Briggs Stadium.

Will the Lions, defending champions and kings of the Western Division, carry Coach Buddy Parker off the field in triumph? Or will the Cleveland club do all the happy rough-housing after the game?

The oddsmakers have installed Coach Paul Brown's powerful arm

Michigan State, UCLA Return To Rose Bowl Game Workouts

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—After a lull in workouts over the Christmas season, Michigan State and UCLA settled back today to the serious business of preparing for their Rose Bowl football meeting New Year's Day.

The UCLA team members, the majority of them from the Los Angeles area, were allowed to leave the campus to spend the holiday with their families.

Michigan State staged a brief workout yesterday morning — "mostly to keep the boys from thinking too much of home," according to Coach Biggie Munn.

MSC was to cut back to one-a-day workouts today. The single session was set for the afternoon.

UCLA, idle over Christmas, also planned an afternoon practice period today.

The Rose Bowl Committee held its official Christmas party for the MSC team at the Hotel Huntington last night. Members of the squad and official party watched a two-hour long vaudeville show and then were presented with gifts of binoculars.

As a special award, firemen's hats were given nine team members who helped battle a fire in the Hotel Huntington a week ago.

Columbiana Youngs Beat Alumni 72-67

The Columbiana Youngs, independent basketball team, defeated the Columbiana Alumni 72-67 Wednesday night in the Columbiana gym.

Carl Blosser and Bill Brelih led the Youngs with 16 and 15 points respectively. Bill Warrick paced the Columbiana grads with 21 markers.

The Columbiana Alumni scored two more points than the Youngs in the first quarter and maintained the two-point lead for three periods.

Both of the squads scored 20 points in the second frame and 13 during the third stanza. Youngs scored 25 in the last quarter while the Alumni hooped 18.

The Youngs will play the Hubbard Boosters Wednesday at Columbiana. Merl Esterly is the coach and manager of the team.

MEETING 'IMMOVABLE' OBJECT—The Yankees' Billy Martin, right, goes flying after Dodgers' catcher Roy Campanella, tags him at the plate for the final out of the fourth World Series game. Yankees lost this one but went on to win fifth straight world title.

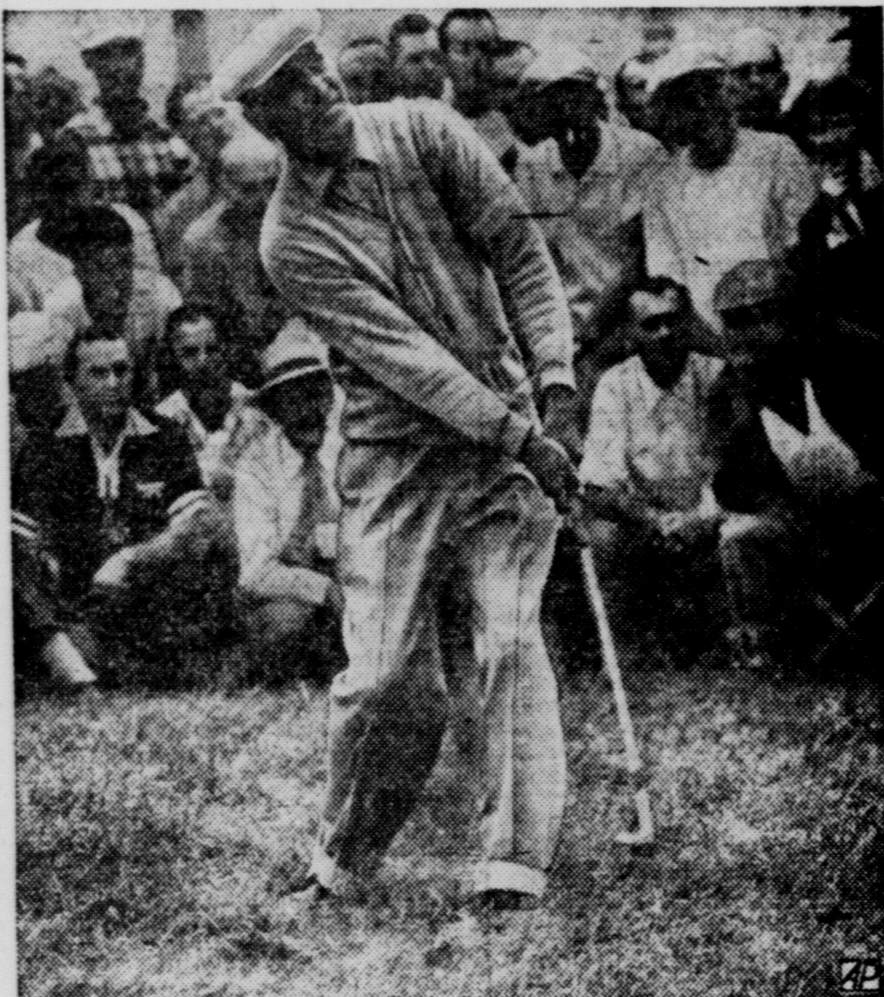

BATTLING BASKETEERS—Indiana's Charles Kraak, 13, battles B. H. Born, 25, and Hal Patterson, 9, of Kansas for ball in March NCAA final at Kansas City. Indiana won 69-68.

SAMPLING ROCKY'S POWER—Challenger Roland LaStarza winces from a smashing left by heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in fourth round of title bout in New York in September. Marciano scored a TKO in eleventh round in second successful defense of his title.

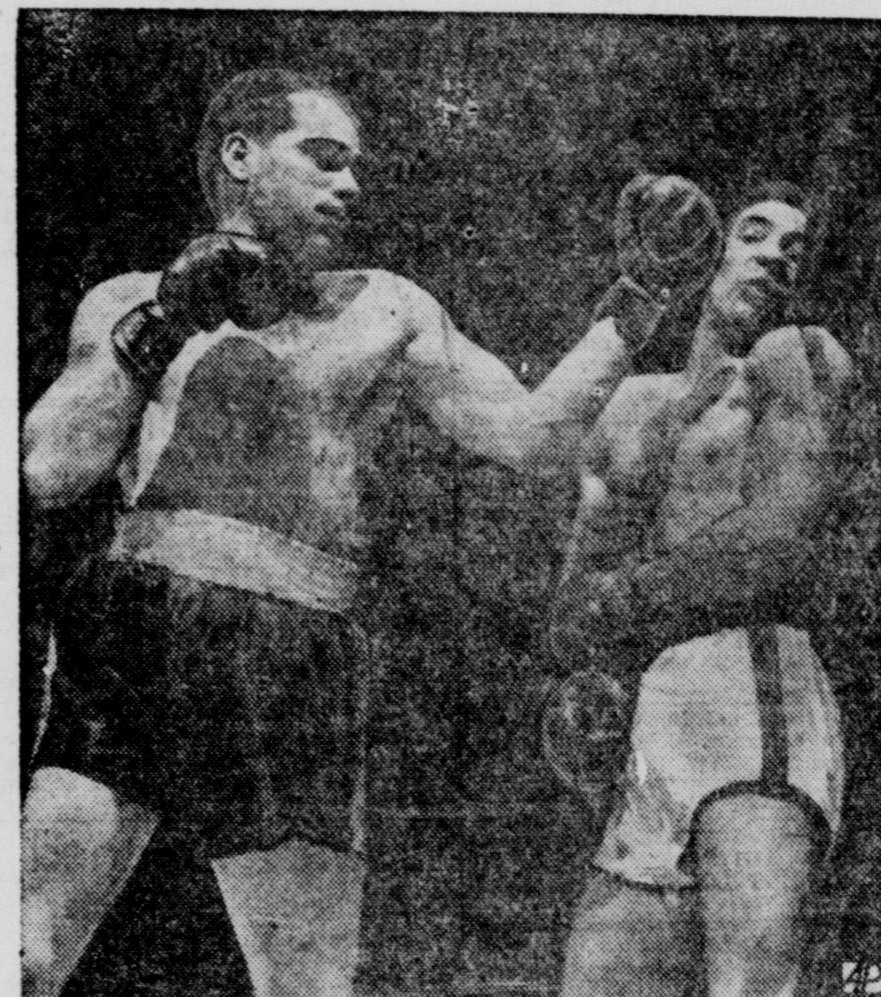

RECORD BREAKER—Jockey Willie Shoemaker was the nation's hottest rider as he easily outnumbered the record 390 winning races set last year by Tony DeSpirito.

ADDING ANOTHER TITLE—Ben Hogan chaps from rough in second round of U. S. Open golf championship at Oakmont, Pa., in June. He took his fourth Open crown with a 283.

TRIPLE TITLIST—Tenley Albright of Boston raises three fingers at Hershey, Pa., in March to indicate she won the women's world, North American and U. S. figure skating titles.

PILING UP POINTS—Carl "Bobo" Olson bounces a left off head of Britain's Randy Turpin in 12th round of October world middleweight title bout in New York. Olson won.

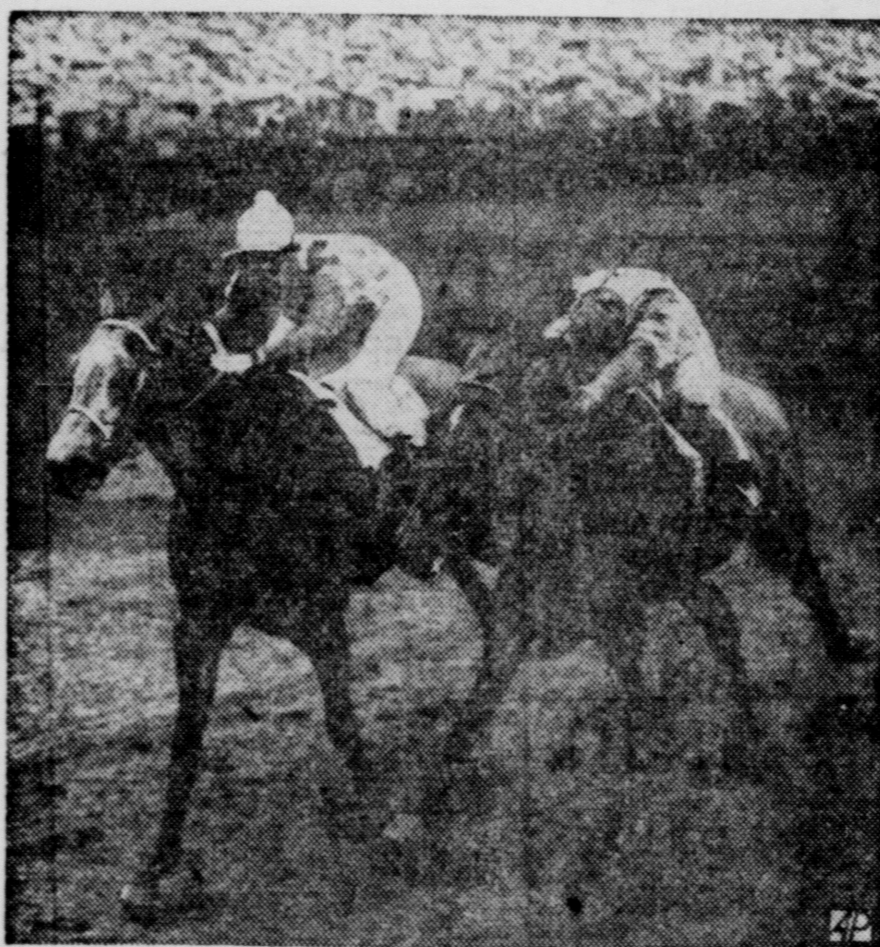

GOLF QUEEN—Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., holds the trophy after defeating Polly Riley for U. S. women's amateur golf title at West Barrington, R. I., in August.

CHAMPION RETURNS—Hayes Jenkins, Colorado Springs, Colo., and his mother arrive in New York from Europe where in February he won the men's world figure skating crown.

SINGLES KING—Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, O., won the national men's singles tennis crown by defeating Vic Seixas at Forest Hills, N. Y., in September.

DANCER RAMBLES ON—Native Dancer, left, year's best three-year-old, Eric Guerin up, beats Jamie K., Eddie Arcaro aboard, in $100,000 Belmont Stakes at New York in June.

NET CHAMP AGAIN—Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Cal., won the national women's singles tennis title at Forest Hills, N. Y., in September for the third straight year.

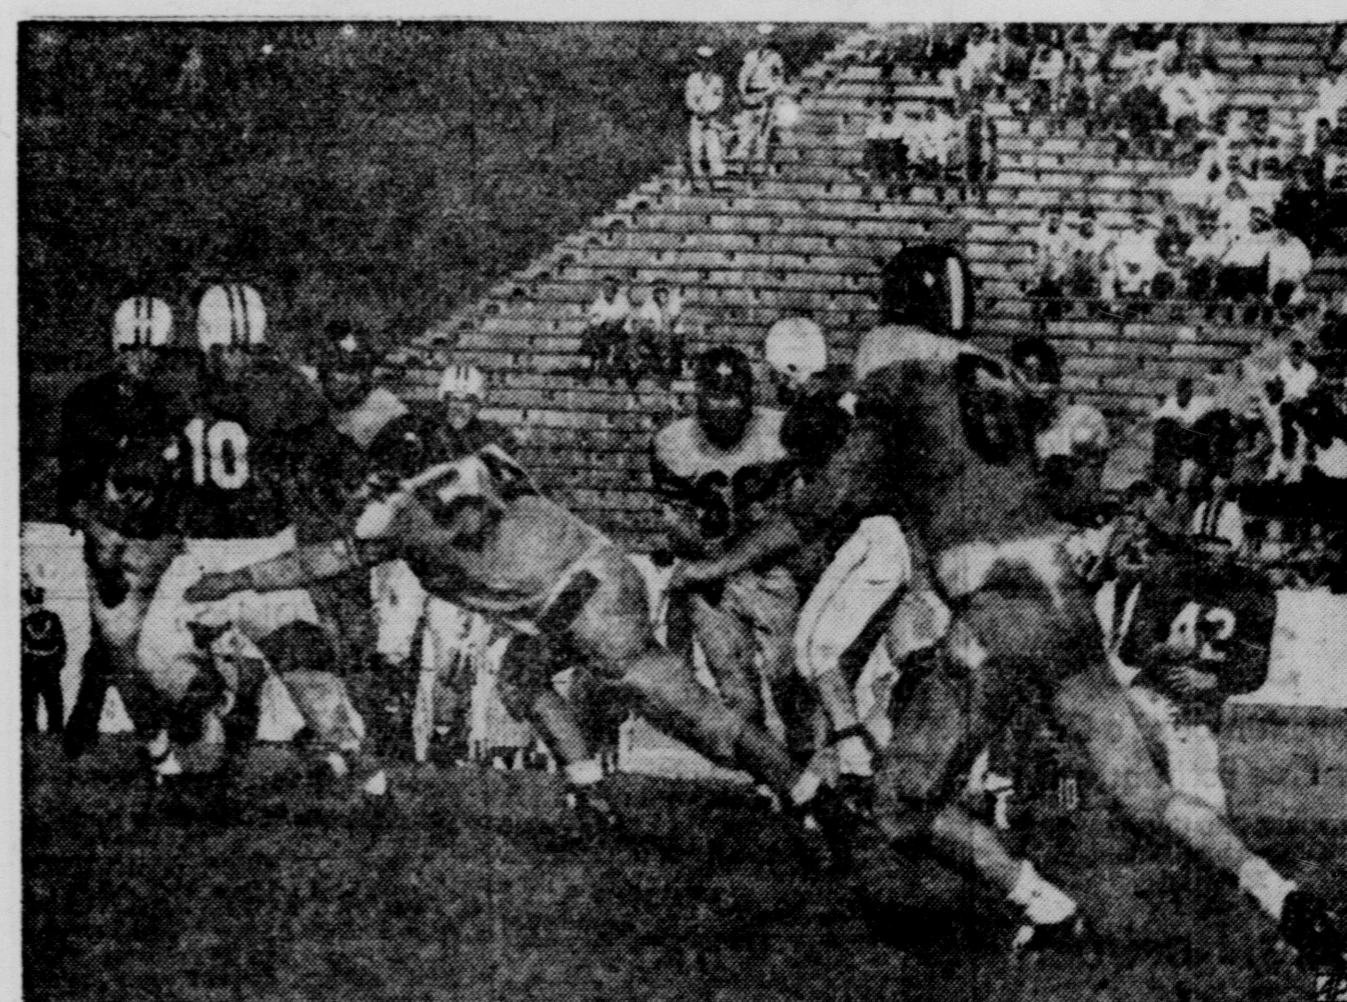

CUP AND A HUG—Gene Littler of LaJolla, Cal., and his happy wife pose with trophy in Oklahoma City, Okla., after he won the National Amateur golf championship in September.

DARK STAR TAKES THE ROSES—Dark Star, on rail, Hank Moreno up, crosses finish line to beat Native Dancer, Eric Guerin aboard, in 79th running of Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, Ky., in May. Win was worth $118,000 to Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Roy stable.

MOST VALUABLE—Roy Campanella, left, Dodgers' catcher, and Al Rosen, Indians' infielder, were chosen most valuable players in National and American Leagues respectively.

STARTING RUN TO TOP—Maryland's Bernie Faloney, 10, eludes Missouri tackler for sizable gain in game at Columbia, Mo. Maryland won this, its opener, 20-6, and went through ten-game schedule undefeated and untied to win rating as nation's best football team.

Congress O. K. Of Wiretapping Predicted By Senator Ferguson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Ferguson of the Senate Republican Policy Committee predicted today Congress will legalize the use in spy trials of evidence obtained by telephone wiretapping.

"A proper bill can be worked out and passed, protecting both the inalienable rights of citizens and the welfare of the nation," the Michigan senator said in an interview.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) also said he thinks some such law will be enacted, but Sen. McCarran of Nevada, senior Democratic member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, rated present chances as doubtful.

Atty. Gen. Brownell has announced he plans to ask Congress to permit the use of such evidence in trials under certain conditions. The idea reportedly was discussed during President Eisenhower's conferences with Republican Congress leaders at the White House last week.

Federal law does not prohibit wire tapping by federal officers but it does forbid the use of such evidence in a trial court. The rule has been interpreted to block the use of evidence uncovered as the result of "leads" produced by wire tapping.

The issue is hotly controversial. It has been before Congress before, but Ferguson said he thinks this time "the administration and Congress can work out a bill keeping in mind our historical background" that would satisfy most opponents of the idea.

Ferguson declined to say what the administration might propose along that line. He emphasized that he was expressing only his views as a senator and former judge.

The courts, he said, now allow search and seizure practices to obtain evidence from private premises. As "the guardians of constitutional institutions," he said, it is the courts which also should determine when wire tapping to uncover crimes against the nation's security should be permitted.

Presumably, he was referring to the suggestion often-made that federal officers be allowed to introduce such evidence only if they first get a U.S. court's permission to tap the lines.

McCarran, in a separate interview, spoke much less confidently of prospects for approval of such a bill. He is an advocate of limited use of wire-tapping to convict subversives. He indicated that he has very definite views on what safeguards would be necessary and will discuss them only when and if the matter comes before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He said he believes there is "very serious question" whether the most carefully-drawn bill could muster enough votes to pass both Senate and House next year.

Knights Templar Service Set Sunday

All members of the Salem Commandery, Knights Templar and their families are invited to attend the annual Christmas service Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Masonic temple.

Miss Gerry Van Hovel, pianist, will play the prelude, after which the audience will participate in processional, singing "Joy to the World." Rev. C. Clare Davis of the First Methodist Church will deliver the invocation and benediction.

The commander of the Salem Commandery, Sir Knight Wayne L. Brown, will welcome the audience and Everett Crawford will sing, "The Birthday of a King." The grand prelate's annual message will be given by Sir Knight Myron A. Kelly, prelate of the local commandery.

Appellate Court Judge Elmer T. Phillips of Youngstown will deliver the Christmas message and Everett Crawford will sing another selection, "Before the Falling of the Stars."

Seized U.S. Lands
Guatemala has appropriated some 40,000 acres of land formerly owned by the U.S.-controlled United Fruit Co. a move applauded by Pravda. The U. S. State Department last September protested that Arbenz's government was violating international law in not providing sufficient compensation to the company for the lands.

Pravda predicted that "imperialists and their lackeys in Central America" may make new efforts at "open intervention in Guatemala" in the coming months.

Mother, 5 Children Die As Home Burns

FRENCHBURG, Ky. (AP)—Flames swept through a small, frame home near here today, killing a mother and five of her six children.

Menifee County Coroner Joe Slusher said he suspected foul play and has asked the Kentucky state police to send a detective to investigate the blaze.

The father of the children escaped from the burning home and managed to save one of them.

Burned to death were Mrs. Arnold Crough and five young children. Names of the children and their ages were not available immediately.

tion was issued after a conference of Cabinet members and high military officers decided the Indochinese situation constituted a threat to Thailand's sovereignty. Thakhek is just across the river from the Thailand town of Lakhon.

(Reports in the Thailand capital said French forces opposing the rebel drive were falling back to new defenses set up about 50 kilometers (31.5 miles) from Thakhek.)

The French population of the threatened city, which lies about 240 miles south of Hanoi and dominates the Mekong Valley, has been evacuated to Savannakhet, 50 miles to the south.

The French spokesman said elements of two Vietnamese divisions have been identified as taking part in the drive into Laos, one of the three French-associated states of Indochina. The rebel troops, he said, were carrying only light arms and few supplies, apparently to speed their advance.

The Vietnamese forces started their thrust from the rebel-held coastal area of North Annam. Indochina is only about 100 miles across at this point.

The French said hard fighting was in progress in the jungle along Colonial Rd 12, a main road connecting Annam with the Mekong River. This would place the rebels about 100 miles south of the area they overran last year in their first assault against Laotian territory.

state championship basketball team in 1911 and played football, baseball and basketball at Ohio State University where he was awarded a degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine in 1915. Following graduation he enlisted in the Veterinary Corps in World War I and served 17 months at Camp Lee, Va.

Foust was named assistant director of agriculture in January 1949. That job also involved managing the state fair. Then, when A. W. Marion was promoted from agriculture director to head of the natural resources department six months later, Foust became director.

He put the fair on a self-supporting basis. When he started managing it in 1949 the fair was supported by legislative appropriations. Faced with a $15,000 deficit in 1949, Foust took only two years to put things on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Lisbon Police Probe Two Traffic Mishaps

LISBON — Two accidents involving three cars were reported over the holiday by village police. Total damages were estimated at about $1,000.

A car driven by James M. Cox of RD 5, Lisbon, collided at 7:15 p.m. Thursday with an auto operated by Mrs. Marilyn B. Gadd, 25, of 417 E. Chestnut St. at the intersection of E. Lincoln Way and Jefferson St.

She suffered from shock and a cut above the right eye.

Cox pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an unsafe vehicle and was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Wilbur Warren.

Massillon Man Kills 3 Of Family, Self

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Orvis Burdett, angry at attempts to send him back to prison, got revenge Christmas Eve by killing his wife, his brother-in-law and his father-in-law. Then he committed suicide with the same gun.

Burdett, 39, served 13 years in the Moundsville, W. Va. State Penitentiary for kicking a man to death. Dep. Sheriff Howard Imboden said the wife's family had wanted the former convict's parole permanently revoked, asserting he mistreated her.

Because of complaints by the wife and her family, the parole was taken away temporarily four months ago.

Dead beside Burdett were his wife, Gwendolene, 26; her father, Columbus Cochran, 49; and Delbert Gwinn, 33.

The shooting was at an apartment house in which the Cochran and Gwinn families lived at Navarre, near here.

Burdett, the deputy sheriff said, surprised the two men with a pistol and marched them to a bedroom in the Cochran home.

"You know, I've always wanted to do that," Mrs. Gwinn quoted Burdett as saying before he fired two shots into her husband's head. Cochran was killed while running for a pistol purchased because the family feared Burdett.

Burdett's last two shots killed his wife and himself.

streets in some sections of the Midwest, Rocky Mountain region and the Northeast made driving conditions hazardous, resulting in hundreds of accidents.

Traffic deaths this year have averaged about 102 very 24 hours. In a recent sample pre-holiday survey for a 78-hour weekend period there were 310 traffic deaths—200 under the council's estimate for this weekend.

Of the deaths attributed to fires, none resulted from Christmas tree blazes. Several of the fire victims were children.

ing funds from federal and local sources.

The council visited all proposed major projects and many of the smaller ones before announcing its decision yesterday. It said Highway Director S. O. Linzell's recommendations were "well conceived."

Ohio voters approved a 500-million dollar bond issue for highway improvements Nov. 3. Council members said the full amount of the bond issue would not cover all state highway needs on the major thoroughfare system so a priority schedule was drawn up based on the following points:

1. Sufficiency ratings or adequacy of a road to carry a given volume of traffic.
2. Future adequacy of improvements.
3. Continuous improvement along entire length if important routes.
4. Traffic volume.
5. Emergency conditions such as sharp curves or narrow bridges.
6. Geographical distribution of projects.
7. National defense needs.
8. Balances of expenditures such as between rural and urban areas.
9. Full use of matching funds.
10. Relative right-of-way expense.
11. Cooperation of governmental agencies and people involved.

Obituary

Mrs. Glenn Moore

Mrs. Margaret E. Moore, 67, formerly of Akron, died at 8:30 a.m. Friday at the Central Clinic where she had been a patient since May.

She was born in New Albany June 7, 1886, a daughter of John and Phoebe Corwin Steves.

She was married to Glenn O. Moore in 1910. He died in 1920.

She had lived in Akron 43 years and was employed by the M. O'Neil Co. for more than 30 years. She was a member of the Twenty-Five Year Club and the Forest Hill Community Church of Akron.

She leaves a sister, Mrs. Paul J. White of Salem; two nephews and a niece of Salem, and several cousins.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home with burial Monday morning in East Akron Cemetery. Rev. C. Clare Davis will officiate.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Roland W. Copeland

Roland Wayne Copeland, 44, of RD 5, Salem died at the Central Clinic at 6:15 p.m. Thursday.

He was born in Tappan, O. Jan. 6, 1909, a son of Bate and Gertrude Perry Copeland.

A World War II veteran, he had lived in Salem for two years, coming here from Dennison. He was employed at Mullins Manufacturing Corp.

He leaves his mother at Dennison, a daughter, Carol Ann, and a son, Carl, of Dennison; two sisters, Mrs. Waldama Bonde of Dennison and Mrs. E. E. Gordon of Jeanette, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Lindsey Funeral Home in Dennison with burial in Union Cemetery, Urichsville.

Mrs. Richard Jones

Mrs. Harriett Emily Jones, 92, widow of Richard Jones, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Dec. 24 at 6028 Highland Rd., Cleveland.

Born March 3, 1861, near Lydney, England, she had lived most of her life in Salem, arriving here Oct. 14, 1884. Married in Salem, Nov. 13, 1884, to Richard Jones, she was a charter member of Home Rebekah Lodge and the Church of Christ Scientist here. Her membership in the Rebekahs dates from 1885.

Survivors include a son, Raymond L. Jones, and her granddaughter, Mrs. Brady L. Eddy, in whose home she died.

Funeral service will be Monday at 1:30 p.m. in the Joseph C. Schultz Funeral home at 4092 Mayfield Rd., Cleveland.

Relatives here include two great-nieces, Mrs. Carl Howell and Miss Gertrude Ringnell and a great-nephew, Russell Ringnell.

Charles W. Cronenwett

HANOVERTON — Word has been received here of the death on Thursday of Charles W. Cronenwett, 75, husband of the late Lottie Cronenwett, in Cleveland at the home of his sister, Mrs. Lauretta Frye.

Born in Woodville, O., the son of Charles F. and Margaret Helrich Cronenwett, formerly of New Carrollton, he resided for some time in Hanoverton. He was a landscape gardener.

He is survived by a son, Dr. Paul H. Cronenwett; a daughter, Miss Margaret Cronenwett; two grandsons, Paul Jr. and Mark Cronenwett.

Mrs. Clyde Anglemeyer

Mrs. Bessie Anglemeyer, 75, of 580 Columbia St., died at 9:45 p.m. Thursday in North Hollywood, Calif., where she was visiting her two sons and daughter.

She was born in Salem April 9, 1878, the daughter of Robert and Mary McCartney Simpson. She lived in Salem all her life. Her first husband, Albert Hannay, died in 1924. She later married Clyde Anglemeyer, who survives.

Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Mable Sartick of Salem, and Mrs. Margaret Roelen of North Hollywood, and two sons, Ralph Hannay of Encino, Calif., and Ray Hannay of North Hollywood.

One step-daughter, Mrs. Arthur Rice of Salem, and one brother, Robert W. Simpson of Salem also survive. She has 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

She was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Anglemeyer left Salem Saturday evening to spend the holidays with her family in California.

The body will arrive in town Monday evening.

Friends may call at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home on Tuesday from 2-4 p.m. and from 7-9 p.m.

Burial services, conducted by Rev. C. Clare Davis of the First Methodist Church, will be Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. Interment will be at Hope Cemetery.

In the beginning the earth was completely molten. Now it is apparent that there is a layer of liquid metal that lies between the crust and a solid center, with a mantle of rocky material extending to the surface. Below it there is a region still so hot and under such pressure that it is liquid and at the center there is solid iron.

One of tomorrow's business leaders will be at your front door today!

He's your newspaper, of course.

And the reason we predict the bright future for him that we do is because of the only start he's had.

He's a sweetie all ready—and he's going to get better!

In this business of his, he buys his newspapers from us wholesale and in turn sells them to you retail.

He keeps his own records, learns how to handle money, appreciates the need for paying his bills promptly and maintaining his credit.

It didn't take him very long to learn the real meaning of service, to know how important dependability is, or the value of being on time. You see his profits depend on all these things and he's just as interested in profits as any businessman who ever lived.

He knows the value of a dollar, the satisfaction of a savings account, the thrill of being independent.

Today he's quite a boy. Tomorrow he'll be quite a man. And we're proud of him.
